Britain Moves To Bolster Strength On Sea

POWERS TURN INTEREST TO ARMED MIGHT

Japan War Machine Mobilizes Inside Great China Wall

(By United Press)
THE CENTER of international interest today shifted to a world-wide display of armed might with these outstanding developments:

London—Great Britain, faced with increasing German sea power, Italy's annexation of Ethiopia and Japan's sword rattling in north China, notified the United States and Japan that she must increase her destroyer strength to combat accelerated submarine building by other powers.

Shanghai—The most powerful military machine Japan ever has assembled for north China service concentrated at Great Wall passes and landed from transports at Tientsin, Tangku and Chinwangtao while Chinese feared a campaign to annex all of China north of the Yellow river to Nanchukuo.

Vienna—Fearing civil war as a result of Helmswehr opposition at the ousting of Prince Ernst R. Von Stahrenberg, Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg rallied monarchist support to his new dictatorial regime.

Berlin—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, sparring with Britain on the question of general European security, indicated consideration of disarmament plans at this time would be futile in view of the world race for more armaments.

La Paz—A military junta took control of Bolivia, ousting the government and founding the Western hemisphere's second Fascist regime.

BRITISH NOTE CONVEYS PLAN TO UNITED STATES
LONDON, May 18.—(UP)—Confronted by Italy's outright seizure of Ethiopia and renewed Japanese saber rattling inside the Great Wall of China, Great Britain today decided to take an emphatic lead in the race for naval armaments.

Britain sent a note to the United States conveying notification of the British navy to retain 40,000 tons of destroyers in excess of treaty limits.

A virtually identical note was sent to Japan.

The United Press is able to reveal that the memorandum to Washington was dated May 6. Its contents, hitherto secret, expressed Britain's preference rather than by invoking the so-called Escalator clause of the 1930 London naval limitations treaty.

The direct move for a bigger, more mobile and more powerful British navy was indicated to be the result of Italy's aggressiveness.

The British memorandum cited flatly as the reason for its destroyer increase the fact that powers, not bound by the London treaty, have laid down more than 200 submarines since 1930.

U. S. NOT TO OBJECT TO BRITAIN'S NAVY INCREASE
WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—The state department, it was indicated today, will not object to Great Britain increasing its destroyer tonnage to 190,000 tons or shifting tonnage in the cruiser classes.

Great Britain's formal notification that it intends to exceed the London treaty limits before the pact expires, was received at the

LEGISLATIVE RED TAPE TO BE CUT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 18.—(UP)—Tricky legislative procedure which tends to lengthen session and increase the cost of lawmaking will be abolished in California next year if the 62nd legislature adopts the changes recommended by an interim committee on rules.

While members of the present legislature awaited a call to a special session, to meet the emergency relief situation, the committee headed by Assemblyman Charles W. Lyon, Los Angeles, administration floor leader last year, completed recommendations which will be submitted at the January session.

If adopted—and members of the committee were confident the legislature would approve the changes—there will be no more clock-stopping, no morning sessions of the assembly. Lobbyists will be denied the privilege of visiting members on the floor.

TEACHER'S PET

The designation of "teacher's pet" usually is anathema to students, but when applied to Lilia Arguedas of New York university it is an honor, for she was selected by professors of the School of Commerce as their favorite pupil. She's the daughter of J. Arturo Arguedas, Bolivian vice consul at New York.

TRUSTEES FAIL TO FILE PAPERS OF NOMINATION

WITH ONLY two days remaining in which to file nominations for school trustees, for the elections scheduled June 5, 22 school districts, nearly half the total in the county, are without a single trustee nomination, it was learned today.

County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson today expressed the belief that the situation may be due to confusion resulting from the change in the law governing the filing of nominations.

The last legislature passed a law changing the date of school elections from the last Friday in March to the first Friday in June, and provided that nominations should be filed with the office of the county superintendent, rather than with the clerk of the local board, as formerly. Such nominations must be filed 15 days in advance of the

ESCAPES LYNCHERS, BUT FACES TRIAL

MERCED, Calif., May 18.—(UP)—Murder charges were being prepared today against Joe Chavez, 38-year-old Mexican laborer, rescued by police from a lynch mob after he allegedly stabbed Edwin Gayton to death on the latter's ranch near Chowchilla.

According to Tony Soiz, eye witness, the two men quarreled. They pulled knives. Gayton was stabbed in the back of the neck, both arms and above the heart.

Friends and relatives of the victim gathered. They seized Chavez. They were prepared to lynch him when Undersheriffs Merrill Morse and Robert Cochran and State Highway Patrolman Reel Henderson, rescued him from the angry mob.

DR. TOWNSEND TO TESTIFY AT QUIZ TUESDAY

West Coast Caravan Arrives in Washington With Petitions

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—Four leaders of the Townsend old age pension movement were summoned today to testify before a house investigating committee after they had appealed for public contributions to a "preparedness fund" to help carry on the work of the organization.

Coinciding with arrival of a caravan of Townsends from the West Coast, leaders of the house old age pension investigating committee promised a "show-down" when much delayed hearings are resumed tomorrow with Dr. F. E. Townsend, founder of the movement as the first witness.

The transcontinental caravan from Los Angeles—43 Townsends in 20 automobiles—brought petitions bearing 10,581,000 names and requesting congressional approval of the Townsend plan.

Rep. C. Jasper Bell, D. Mo., chairman of the house committee, called the caravan a "flop."

Those subpoenaed in addition to Townsend, were John B. Kiefer, Chicago, and the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, Cleveland, directors of old age revolving pensions to appear May 21, and Charles M. Hawkes, Boston state area manager, to appear May 26.

Wright and Kiefer signed the appeal for contributions to the "preparedness fund" which pointed out that the fund might be needed in case attempts were made to tie up regular funds of the organization.

The investigating committee also asked Thomas W. Hardwick, Townsend counsel, to produce Edward J. Margrett, San Francisco, recently named national publicity director of the movement, on May 24.

The Townsend caravan arrived in the capital yesterday and conducted a ceremony in the mall at the foot of Capitol Hill. The delegation planned to attend Tuesday's hearings, but was warned that no heckling would be permitted.

APPEAL OF STATE SOLON IS DENIED

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals today ruled that Rep. John H. Hoepfel, D. Cal., and his son, Charles, must serve from four months to one year in prison for conspiring to sell an appointment to West Point for $1000.

The Hoepfels had appealed a District of Columbia supreme court conviction, contending that the statute under which they were prosecuted did not cover the charge against them.

James W. Ives, a Baltimore, Md., Olympic athlete, accused them of seeking to sell him an appointment to the military academy.

Ives gave young Hoepfel a promissory note, and then refused to pay when he learned his appointment was unlawful.

Hoepfel said that he would file a motion for a rehearing before the Court of Appeals.

Long-Hunted Bandit Suspect Arrested By G-Men In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—(UP)—Avery Simons, dimpled, strapping bandit suspect, was arrested here for Danville, Vt., authorities despite a desperate attempt to avoid identification by mutilating his fingerprints, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents revealed today.

In addition to mutilating his fingers with a powerful acid, he removed the tattooed bust of a cowgirl from his left forearm but agents said he has been identified positively as a long-hunted fugitive wanted in various parts of the country.

They said he would be returned to the Vermont town where he is under indictment with Edward Behne, recently arrested in New York on charges of robbing the Caledonia National bank, Oct. 19, 1934. He also was said to be charged with robbing the First National Bank of Brandon, Vt., on the same day.

Simons was arrested here as he was strolling along a downtown street.

According to agents, his long successful evasion from capture was made possible by his use of numerous names and periodic trips to South America. He employed more than a dozen aliases and was operating under the name of James L. Ripley when arrested here.

Detectives said his crime trail extended back to 1924 when he was sentenced to the Pendleton, Ind., reformatory for robbery. He escaped in 1925. Under the name of Raymond Patrick Kelly, he was arrested in San Antonio, Tex., in 1926 for robbery but "jumped" bond and escaped. The following year he was seized in Winston-Salem, N. C., under the name of Robert W. Willard, and turned over to Indiana reformatory authorities but escaped at Vulcan, W. Va., March 6, 1927, while being returned. He had remained at large ever since, agents said.

SUBSTITUTE IS BETTER 'TAXER' THAN ORIGINAL

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—The treasury today estimated for the senate finance committee that the proposed substitute for the undivided corporate profits tax would raise more than the original tax scheme.

Of the net total of $642,000,000 which the treasury estimated the substitute proposal would bring in $173,000,000 would come from an increase in the normal income tax rate from 4 to 5 per cent.

The $642,000,000 net total compares with a total of $623,000,000 provided for in the bill as it left the house or an increase of $19,000,000. An additional $107,000,000 could be raised by putting a 35 per cent tax on all undivided profits over 50 per cent the treasury pointed out.

The treasury estimated: Retain capital stock and excess profits tax (which the house raised from $1.40 to 70 cents)—$168,000,000.

Repeat exemption of dividends from normal income taxation—no definite estimate.

18 Per cent flat tax on corporate earnings—$244,000,000 increase.

7 Per cent flat tax on undivided profits—$225,000,000.

Raising the normal income tax rate from 4 to 5 per cent—$173,000,000.

000 including the income from normal taxes on dividends.

Total—$310,000,000, of which $148,000,000 is not additional revenue. The net total left would be $642,000,000 compared to the house bill providing $623,000,000.

TELEVISION IS NO MENACE TO FILMS

HOLLYWOOD, May 18.—(UP)—Motion picture producers, quick over the possibility of television invading their popular entertainment domain, received official assurance today that no such threat is on the immediate horizon.

The research council of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences after months of studying the subject reported that the most that can be expected from television within the next few years is its limited use in urban areas.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 18.—(UP)—A special session of the California legislature was expected to be called today after a relief conference attended by Gov. Frank P. Merriam, Controller L. Riley and Relief Administrator Charles L. Schottland.

The legislature, if called, probably will be convened next Monday or Tuesday, Merriam said.

"I think I can give you the answer this afternoon, after a conference with Riley and Schottland," the governor said, indicating he had given up hope of obtaining funds to finance the dole between now and July 1.

"I feel under obligation to provide the money for relief. We can't let people go hungry. I am going to carry out my part of the program. It will be up to the legislature to do as it sees fit."

U. S. DISTRICT COURT CHECKS USE OF FUNDS

Financing of Resettlement Policies With Relief Money Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—Citing the Supreme Court's NRA and AAA decisions as precedents, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals today held use of relief funds for the resettlement administration unconstitutional.

While the court granted the right of congress to appropriate funds for relief of unemployment, it restricted the use to which such funds might be put.

Although the court denounced the whole $4,000,000,000 work relief appropriation of last year, legal authorities agreed that it was not ruling on the whole re-employment act because its whole discussion in the case applied only to the rural resettlement suit.

The court held that President Roosevelt's allocation of relief funds to Rexford G. Tugwell's resettlement administration was an improper delegation of congress of legislative power and that it invaded the rights of the states.

The court's decision was rendered in an injunction action brought by Franklin township, Somerset County, N. J., against a proposed resettlement project in that locality.

Two Vital Objections
The court cited two vital objections to the constitutionality of the resettlement administration.

They were:
1. Congress failed to set up proper standards to guide the president in allocation of funds for resettlement purposes.

2. Use of relief funds for resettlement purposes invades the reserved rights of the states in that a policy was initiated attempting to regulate and control housing and to resettle or shift destitute and low income population of the states.

"This act invades the reserved rights of the states," said the court, "because it attempts to reach and control matters over which the Constitution has given congress no power."

"The Constitution will be scanned in vain for a power conferred upon the federal government to

Sentence Delayed On Appeal Motion

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—(UP)—Superior Judge Frank M. Smith delayed sentencing of three accused members of a Los Angeles "crime ring" today when a motion for a new trial was entered in behalf of the trio, former Police Officer Ralph V. Savage; Whitley Hansley and Harry "Andy" Gump.

The court ordered a hearing Wednesday on the motion. The three were convicted last week of plotting the $30,000 robbery of a Santa Monica hotel.

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—(UP)—David Niven, British writer, admitted he and Merle Oberon, dark-haired British film star, are "very, very close friends," but denied today they planned to marry.

"Miss Oberon has only been here a year," he said, "and I'm just beginning. Neither one of us can let the thought of marriage disturb our careers."

Both Niven and Miss Oberon admitted, however, that they "go out with no one else" but each other.

Seamen, Operators To Aid Sea Safety

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—The senate commerce committee called upon seamen and ship operators today for aid in drafting legislation providing greater safety at sea for crews of American vessels.

Chairman Royal S. Copeland, D. N. Y., announced formation of a technical advisory group headed by Rear Admiral H. G. Hamlet of the coast guard, to help write legislation designed to insure for American vessels "satisfactory and satisfactory personnel."

YOUTH RESCUED BY GUIDES IN DESERT WILDS

PALM SPRINGS, Cal., May 18.—(UP)—Fifteen-year-old Roland Gray rested in a hospital here today after a rescue by Indian guides from rattlesnake-infested desert wilds where he lay 12 hours with a bullet wound in one leg.

Two companions of the youth on a hunting trip fought venomous snakes all night as they awaited aid in an inaccessible thicket high up in desolate mountains fringing the desert. The boys killed a number of snakes.

Three rescue parties also were forced to battle the rattlers in the dark. One party, led by the boy's father, Earl Gray, hotel owner, became lost and was himself rescued by Indian guides. Citizens stood in the streets here watching the progress of the rescue by the flashlights twinkling on the mountainside.

The wounded youth was lowered by ropes over cliffs and carried on an improvised stretcher to the nearest road across the sands.

Surgeons said young Gray would recover, although he suffered seriously from loss of blood. The boy was hunting rabbits when he was shot accidentally.

Cardenas Assumes Charge in Strike

MEXICO CITY, May 18.—(UP)—President Lazaro Cardenas assumed charge today of efforts to prevent a strike of 40,000 men employed by the Mexican National Railway, the country's largest rail system.

The strike has been called for 5 p. m. Railwaymen were ordered to start all trains normally if they are scheduled to leave terminals before 5 p. m. and to take the trains on to their destination but to start no run after the zero hour.

It was announced that the government had taken full measures to prevent sabotage, preserve order and maintain mail schedules.

CONTROL ACT STRUCK DOWN IN DECISION

Supreme Court Rules Out Tax, Price-Fixing and Labor Provisions

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(UP)—The supreme court today struck down the Guffey coal control act and cited objections apparently meaning the end of any New Deal attempt to control industry or regulate labor along lines of the invalidated NRA and the Wagner labor act.

After presenting its Guffey decision, the court announced it would begin its summer vacation June 1, thus postponing possibility of any further New Deal decisions until after the November elections.

The court threw out the three vital features of the Guffey act—the 15 per cent tax on coal production, labor provisions and price-fixing.

Under the terms of its decision it appeared unlikely any successful New Deal effort could be made to re-write control laws upon the ruins of the NRA and other invalidated New Deal statutes.

Additional weight to this interpretation was lent by a District of Columbia court of appeals decision which cited the high court's AAA and NRA decisions in holding unconstitutional use of work relief funds for the resettlement administration.

The import of the Guffey decision was seen in the fact that three opinions were presented by the court—a majority ruling written by Justice George Sutherland and concurred in by five colleagues, a minority decision in which three justices joined and a separate concurring opinion submitted by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

The court's decision was so far-reaching that it appeared clear that without constitutional change of some type, virtually all proposed substitutes for industry and labor control were barred.

Seven questions were presented in the majority opinion as necessary for settlement.

1. The right of stockholders to bring suits testing the Guffey Act.

2. Whether the suits were brought prematurely.

3. Whether the 15 per cent tax on coal sales at the mine was a true tax or a penalty.

4. Whether congress had power to attempt such control as the

INCREASES IN WAGES ORDERED IN BOLIVIA

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 18.—(UP)—Bolivia's new military government, inaugurating the western hemisphere's second fascist government, today ordered wage increases for all workers throughout the country.

This first act of the new regime was followed by a promise that currency would be devalued.

The decree raising wages for workers for private enterprises, promising government employees reduced living costs and threatening fines for employers failing to comply, was intended to end a general strike.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT CHECKS USE OF FUNDS

The Court of Appeals thrust aside the emergency character of the relief act as a possible argument in favor of validity of resettlement expenditures.

Although the opinion was written in sweeping terms, it appeared to allow for continuance of resettlement expenditures providing the funds were spent within constitutional limitations.

"In this case the statute is sought to be sustained upon the theory that it is an appropriation for the general welfare of the United States," said the court. "While the power of congress to tax and spend for the general welfare is broad, it is not without restrictions."

"That power, like all others possessed by congress, may not be exercised where it conflicts with express limitations imposed by the constitution. If we concede that under the general welfare clause congress has the power to appropriate money for relief or unemployment we have still to consider whether the exercise of that power may be made effective by the establishment of the project here involved."

"The obvious limitation of this power is that the welfare be national, but there is another limitation to be considered and that is that the means employed to attain the end be plainly adapted thereto and be not prohibited."

"The exercise of the power may not be carried to the extent of imposing taxes or spending revenues for purposes which are exclusively within the province of the states."

"The mere declaration in the statute that it is enacted to meet an emergency or for the general welfare adds nothing to its constitutionality."

"The argument that the emergency relief appropriation act of 1935, making the most stupendous single appropriation ever made by a legislative body, was necessary to meet an emergency due to a universal depression, is not sufficient to expand the power of congress to tax and spend for purposes exclusively within the reserve powers of the states."

"It does not help to declare that local conditions throughout the nation have created a situation of national concern, for this is but to say that whenever there is a widespread similarity of local conditions, congress may ignore constitutional limitations."

"It is urged that the determination in this case may be avoided by mere finding that the defendants are acting without legal authority. But to determine whether or not legal authority exists requires an investigation of the fundamental question of whether or not congress has power to delegate the authority here attempted to be exercised."

"The fundamental question here is not merely whether congress, in the attempted exercise of its power, failed to exercise it in a manner which would permit of its enforcement."

"The question is a deeper one. Has congress, under any circumstances, the constitutional power through legislation to put in operation the proposed resettlement project?"

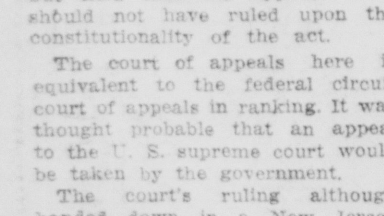

"The fundamental question involved is the total lack of constitutional power on the part of congress to put into operation through legislation a project such as here contemplated. This can be ascertained not from any possible determination of fact but from the very terms of the statute itself."

"The opinion was written by Associate Justice Josiah A. Van Orsdel and concurred in fully by Justices George Martin and Charles Robb. Justices Harold Stephens and J. Lawrence Groner agreed with the reversal of the lower court but held that the appeals court should not have ruled upon the constitutionality of the act."

"The court of appeals here is equivalent to the federal circuit court of appeals in ranking. It was thought probable that an appeal to the U. S. supreme court would be taken by the government."

"The court's ruling although handed down in a New Jersey case, is effective for all similar operations throughout the country."

Exactly how far-reaching its effects will be, it was impossible to determine immediately due to refusal of officials to comment pending study of the ruling.

MRS. SIMPSON ON STAND IN SANITY TRIAL

On the witness stand almost continuously throughout the forenoon court session, Mrs. Lydia Pedraza Simpson, charged with insanity, made a lengthy plea for her acquittal for the sake of her four children.

Detailing at great length the alleged persecutions of her husband, Dr. George Gaylor Simpson, curator of the Museum of Natural History, New York City, and her own adventures in various parts of the country, either as an inmate of insane hospitals, or a defeated applicant for custody of her children, who have been taken from her, the witness interspersed her exhaustive testimony with critical attacks upon prosecution witnesses who have testified against her.

Dr. Simpson, she declared, has been responsible for her first incarceration and later prosecutions as a mental case. She told of her confinement in Bellevue hospital, New York City, and her subsequent escape. She said she had been adjudged sane by a Connecticut court, where she had friends; and she intimated that "influence" had weighed against her in her various contacts with the law, both in the insanity proceedings and in the custody hearings.

She said she had tried to get a change of venue in the local case, fearing she could not get a fair trial in Orange county because of the influence of the head of the county medical society, Dr. John D. Ball, of Santa Ana.

Most of her criticism was leveled at Dr. Ball, who testified for the state that she is insane. She declared that he is "no psychiatrist" and that he had made various errors in his testimony. Other witnesses, however, came in for a share of criticism.

The only break in her testimony was a brief interval while W. C. Cameron, Santa Ana attorney whom she had consulted professionally, appeared on the stand. He was not permitted to give his opinion as to her sanity, but did say that he had observed nothing irrational or incoherent in her conversations with him.

The purchases are intended to help Chinese government in its monetary program and also to fulfill certain requirements of the American silver purchase program.

Morgenthau said the agreement with China was a kind, helpful stabilization. He indicated readiness to consider more stabilization steps with other countries by saying that he thought conversations with other countries one at a time was a better method of progress in that direction than an international conference.

DR. TOWNSEND TO TESTIFY AT QUIZ TUESDAY

line or disturbances would be tolerated.

"If the caravan was a grandstand play to get publicity, it certainly was a flop," Bell said.

The committee's sudden action—apparently at Bell's direction—in subpoenaing key figures in the old age revolving pensions, Ltd., official organization of the Townsend movement, came after a bulletin was issued urging clubs to raise a special "emergency" fund. The bulletin said:

"It now plainly appears that C. Jasper Bell, chairman of the congressional committee investigating the Townsend movement, and his attorney, James R. Sullivan, are determined to use every unfair method to harass and discredit the Townsend organization and the Townsend leaders."

"These two men came from Kansas City, the home of the Pendergast political machine. It must be frankly recognized that their activities are designed to financially and politically cripple the Townsend movement."

"Likewise, there is the distinct possibility that some enemy of the Townsend plan may attempt to tie up the funds of the OARP and that, as a result of such a tie-up, and as a result of the activities of Mr. Bell and Mr. Sullivan, the Townsend organization may be left with insufficient money to carry on its great social and political fight this summer and fall."

BRIBE ATTEMPT IS REPORTED IN CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—(UP)—At least one attempt to bribe Edwin N. Atherton, former department of justice agent, who now is chief investigator of conditions of alleged graft in the San Francisco police department, was reported from authoritative sources today.

Atherton refused to affirm or deny the report but it was said the offer was made in behalf of two police officials who are under suspicion.

When approached Atherton is said to have stopped the intermediaries with the warning that "anything you tell me will be turned over to the grand jury and will be used against you as well as the men you say you are representing."

Meanwhile, Theodore J. Roche, police commission president, said hearings of Patrolman Sydney Hinson, Thomas T. Miller, John J. McKenna and John C. Farrell would be postponed by the commission pending their trial in superior court on burglary and conspiracy charges.

The appeal of F. Cruz and Joe Pedraza from their conviction of petty theft in Tustin justice court April 17 was submitted to Superior Judge James L. Allen today on a statement of the case by counsel.

The defendants were convicted of stealing 35 pounds of avocados from the Irvine company April 15, Justice D. T. Hayden presiding over their trial. Defense attorneys Burke and Colwell appeared.

Local Briefs

Mary Lou West, 22, of Santa Ana, and Richard J. Rolf, 32, of East Los Angeles, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

Wind velocity yesterday averaged 4 m. p. h., according to records at the Santa Ana Junior college meteorological station. Temperatures ranged from 53 at 6 a. m. to 72 at 11:30 a. m. Relative humidity was 56 per cent at 3 p. m.

A fire in the small 1929 coupe of Jack Spencer, 322 1-2 South Broadway, called the fire department into action this morning at 9 o'clock. Exhaust back-fire set the car's supply of gasoline blazing and the car was badly damaged, it was reported.

John Schmand, farmer of Big Prairie, O., used more than 50 pounds of meat in making a sausage 51 feet long.

KEN Murray SAYS:

The New Dealers showed they still have control in the house, when they defeated the Frazier-Lemke inflation bill, which would have eventually resulted in the printing of three billion dollars in greenbacks for farm relief.

With election coming on, I guess the administration is satisfied to leave any further inflation to Dr. Eckenker.

The public should be glad to know that here is at least one item that won't be on their bill. Yes sir! It's the first time in years we've had one on the house.

It is really surprising that the house would have the nerve to defeat a bill which is so ostensibly a farm measure. Who do they think they are, the supreme court?

To sum it all up, it looks like the political picture of Washington, the past three years, will have to be done in technicolor. It's been just a series of Blue Eagles, Black committees, greenbacks, and, of course, the usual Red ideas.

GUFFEY COAL CASE IS RULED OUT BY COURT

Guffey Law sought to impose. The court held congress under the constitution did not have this power.

5. Whether the labor provisions of the act could be upheld as regulation of interstate commerce. The court held they could not be upheld and ruled that mining was not interstate commerce.

6. Whether power was unlawfully delegated under the Guffey coal codes to establish work hours. The court held this delegation of power to be a violation of the fifth amendment of the constitution.

7. Whether the price-fixing provisions of the act can stand alone if other parts of the act are held unconstitutional. The court held they were an integral part of the act and while not ruling on them directly said they could not stand alone.

The dissenting opinion, written by Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, centered on the power of the federal government to fix maximum and minimum prices for commodities moving in interstate commerce.

Hughes' opinion indicated his belief that the federal government had the right to exercise control over industry providing the control was exercised only over actual interstate commerce.

Spurgeon, a graduate of Santa Ana high school, is also taking an active part in spring football practice at the college this year, playing end last week when the grid squad clinaxed its spring football practice with a 38-0 victory over Caltech.

He is also a member of Phi Delta fraternity and active in the recent student body political campaign.

POLICE CORDON ACTS TO STEM DOCK VIOLENCE

NEW YORK, May 18.—(UP)—Heavy police cordons kept pickets of 4500 striking seamen off Hudson and East River piers today as a precaution against more of the violence that in six days has sent 54 men to hospitals and 229 to jail.

The strike developed toward a fortnight battle between conservative leaders of the International Seamen's Union and a militant rank and file group for the organization's control. Heads of the International Longshoremen's association, already engaged in dispute with the rebel Pacific coast faction of their own union led by Harry Bridges, supported efforts to break the seamen's strike.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the longshoremen's association, said he was certain communists were in control of the seamen's strike.

Longshoremen resent the appearance on the waterfront of communists who are taking advantage of bona fide trade unionists," he said.

Joseph Curran, leader of the strikers, admitted he had accepted financial aid from communist groups, but said they had no more control over the rebellion than any other liberal and radical organizations that had contributed money.

"We need all the help we can get against gangsters that sit in on union meetings and prevent the men from speaking their minds," he said.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT
For a time superior accomplishments in any walk in life stand out in bold relief, at last emerge upon the horizon. The influence of a great character abides and is cumulative through the years.

It is through surmounting hard things in life and not through escaping hardship, loneliness and sorrow which develops triumph and personality. The courage and faith which are manifested amid the shadows is a greater contribution to the world than what you attain in business or profession. This is your great opportunity—time and God is with you.

RAILS—Funeral services are to be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. for W. H. Ralls, 71, who passed away Wednesday. Services are to be at the First Christian church of Orange and are to be conducted by the Rev. William R. Holder, pastor of the church. Mr. Ralls was a pioneer resident of Orange and lived at 185 South Clark street.

STONE—May 16, 1936, Miss Florence Stone, of Tustin, aged 70 years. She had lived in Tustin for 25 years. Funeral services will be announced by the Winibler Mortuary, after the arrival of relatives from the East.

NOLAN—Mrs. Celia Nolan, aged 72 years, of 1112 Orange Avenue, passed away May 17. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. G. M. McDonough, of this city; a son, Wm. C. Kihn, of Chicago; a niece, Mrs. Henry McKague, of Santa Ana and two nephews, Wm. Umberham, of Santa Ana and Oliver H. Umberham, of El Modena. She was the widow of John H. Nolan, who died here a number of years ago. Funeral services are to be held from the Winibler Mortuary chapel, 605 North Main street, Wednesday, May 20, at 10 a. m. The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church officiating. Interment in Fairhaven cemetery.

Also surviving are his father, F. M. Waynick, of Stanton road, and a sister, Miss Dana Waynick; Dr. Waynick's mother died about three years ago.

DOROTHY SIDES IS SPEAKER AT MUSEUM HERE

A half hundred or more guests Saturday afternoon in the auditorium of Bowers Memorial museum, derived keen pleasure from the talk of Dorothy Smith Sides, now of Los Angeles, on her experiences in Florentine art galleries, and more particularly when a resident on the Island of Cyprus.

Mrs. Sides was introduced as one of the guest artists in a series of museum talks being presented from time to time during the spring and early summer. She offered for inspection of the audience countless fabrics, ceramic and art objects, as well as her own unusual pencil sketches of the various lands discussed. She is an artist of note, and while in Florence, had the rare distinction of being the only woman artist ever permitted to reproduce in miniature, the famous Raphael ceilings and Florentine tapestries of the Uffizi palace.

Many of the art objects and artifacts of succeeding races on the Island of Cyprus were described in detail, and the speaker told of the research work of archaeologists in delving into the island's history through Phoenician and Roman days and periods even antedating those.

It is probable that she and her husband and small son will return to Cyprus in the near future, where her husband will continue his archaeological research and she will continue her art studies of the country and its peoples.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator, has announced as an early June feature, the exhibit of paintings depicting women's headresses through the centuries, the work of Blanche Collet Wagner, who will be guest speaker. The canvases are noted for both their artistic qualities and their historical values and have been shown in all the leading cities of the United States.

Musical Arts club members will form a host group on the occasion of Mrs. Wagner's appearance here, and one of the largest crowds yet to attend a museum event, is being prepared for.

Gets Trimming; Likes It

Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, is favored by many as the G. O. P. presidential nominee this year. But even though he hopes for victory at the Cleveland convention, Knox must take his regular trimming like the rest of us. This trim was given by a barber in Portland, Ore., during his visit to the Pacific Coast.

CANTANDO CLUB WILL CLOSE CONCERT SEASON ON TUESDAY

Tonight will see the final rehearsal of Cantando club members in preparation for the concert tomorrow night in Orange High school auditorium, with which they will bring their 1935-36 season to a close.

The definite advance in program interest and excellence of the latest concert over its preceding one, indicates that tomorrow night's program will attain a high standard, and as such it is being eagerly anticipated by admirers of the work of this long established men's singing organization.

Benjamin F. Edwards as director, has rehearsed the singers in a program of variety and interest which will open with a group of three numbers, "Lift Thine Eyes" (Frederick Knight Logan); "Softly in the Gloaming" (Franz Abt); and "Song of the Vikings" (Eaton Fanning).

As guest artist, the club has secured John Crown, a concert pianist of note. This is rather a departure from custom, for as a rule the club has presented a vocal soloist, although there have been a few deviations from this rule, such as Miss Katherine Jackson, harpist, and Leo Schulz, cellist. Mr. Crown will play two piano groups but has not yet indicated what his numbers will be.

Ensemble numbers by the chorus will include "Dedication" by Robert Franz, and "Israfel" by King-Protheroe in advance of the intermission. On the second half of the program, the men will sing "Spring Bursts Today" by Van Donnan-Thompson, with the anti-phonal song by June Weiss and Jean McMaster.

"Goin' Home" from Dvorak's "New World Symphony" will include an incidental duet by R. J. Park and Reginald Taylor. "Romeo in Georgia" by John Brindle Scott will complete the one group.

After piano solos by the guest artist, the singers will conclude the program with "Down by the Sea" (Arthur Penn); "An Old Adobe" (Victor Schertzinger); "The Wreck of the 'Pulis Plante'" (O'Hara) and "Goodnight Beloved" (Ciro Pinsuti). The baritone solo in "The Wreck of the 'Pulis Plante'" will feature Reginald Taylor.

Attorney George E. Bradley, of Santa Ana, today was advised of his appointment as United States conciliation commissioner for Orange county, by the U. S. district court for Southern California.

Bradley succeeds J. J. Dwyer, who recently resigned. The duties of conciliator commissioner deal with adjustments of farm debts as intermediary between debtor and creditor, and the handling of farm bankruptcy proceedings.

Bradley announced that he would conduct the business pertaining to the appointment in his law offices at 104 1-2 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, as he will retain his private law practice.

A resident of Santa Ana for 17 years, and a graduate of Santa Ana High school, the new conciliation commissioner has been practicing law in Santa Ana since 1930.

Adkinson, a graduate from the college in 1918, has been a leader in alumni activities for many years. His name was placed on the Alumni association ballot and he is opposed by Mrs. George G. Kirkpatrick of Pomona.

Results of the election will be announced June 13, on the Claremont campus when more than 1500 alumni will convene for the annual Alumni day and home coming.

Appearing on the same program will be Albert L. Walters, state manager of Home Owned Businesses of California, Inc. Walters, as head of the state-wide group represents approximately 7000 independent merchants in California.

The meeting to be held tonight is the result of months of preparation and planning on the part of the local organization, according to Ted Bolte, secretary-manager.

NONCHALANCE

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The best possible insight into President Roosevelt's way of doing business was furnished by his relief announcement.

While Professor Tugwell was leaving to congress that he would go out of business July 1 unless he got more money, while Mr. Ickes was still planning the work of the relief money for his PWA, while Mr. Hopkins was undermining both of them and running off with the relief swag.

Mr. Roosevelt flicked the ash from his cigarette and announced there was nothing in all this talk about Messrs. Hopkins, Ickes and Tugwell and their scramble for the relief doughbag. Nothing new in the situation at all. It was very simple, Tugwell is going to carry on just as he has been, reforming money from Hopkins, Ickes is going to continue his PWA with money from the RFC revolving fund.

DEFLECTION

You could tell from the president's patient tone of voice that it pained him inwardly to have to point out old stuff like this.

Reporters dashed from the room, went off bulletins announcing in effect that Mr. Roosevelt's deflection of the new deal from within had been completed. Ickes and Tugwell were having their wings clipped. Hopkins was going to handle the swag.

Newsmen can detect the real news behind a pained tone when they hear it.

RESIDUE

What everyone knew was that Professor Tugwell is not going to be able to resettle the world on what he gets from Mr. Hopkins. Nor is Mr. Ickes going to be able to announce that PWA has furnished trillions of man-minutes of labor on the refunds he receives from the RFC revolving fund.

Both boys are through as world remakers, for the duration of the campaign at least. Their jobs will be sideline "samples." They will not handle the real goods.

But they will handle enough to keep themselves and their friends comfortably quiet. Exactly how much money they will get, nobody knows. They have an indefinite amount of unexpended balances. Mr. Ickes would build municipal sewers and things like that, but no more Boulder dams. Professor Tugwell will be able to play around with things he has started, but will start no new things.

In other words, an existing condition was accepted as a practical political compromise.

RELATIVE SUCCESS

The secret of Mr. Hopkins' favor with Mr. Roosevelt is that he has done everything he was told to do. He has made as many mistakes as the other officials. Criticism has constantly thundered about his head. But when he was told to spend a certain amount of money, he did it. When he was told to put a certain number of men to work, he was able to produce figures indicating that he did it.

No other new deal lieutenant has been able to show the boss a similar record.

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

WARNED

A Democratic pessimist recently broke through the ring of stumpy "yes men" who always surround a president and bluntly warned FDR that he and his party were totally unprepared for the rough-and-tumble kind of campaign that would be waged against his next fall.

The gloom-dispenser related his experiences in battling a rich and powerful corporation which had tried to keep him out of the senate. He recounted the economic and political beating he had taken when he lined up with "Old Bob" La Follette in the 1924 presidential fight. He predicted that Mr. Roosevelt would be confronted by a solid front of money and power and propaganda as soon as the G. O. P. had named its man. He begged the president not to discount the hatred and strength of his enemies.

Then the westerner grew savagely personal. He pointed out that neither the president nor National Chairman Farley had ever faced a rugged or resourceful foe. Their New York and 1925 victories were "pushovers," he said, in which every circumstance favored the Roosevelt-Farley ticket. In short, the senator urged the president to snap out of his attitude of over-confidence and "get tough."

UNSURE

Mr. Roosevelt was shocked at the dark picture which his visitor painted. He observed that political reports from all sections pointed toward his overwhelming re-election. FDR placed his minimum electoral vote at 335, adding that Jim Farley estimated it at 450.

"Mister President" resumed his fatalistic friend, "you are away ahead now. But the Republicans haven't named their man, and the opposition hasn't begun to work on you. They're going to nominate London and they think they can win with him. They're organized to the grassroots to beat you. If it weren't for the radio it's almost an even bet they could do it."

Mr. Roosevelt agreed that his opponent would undoubtedly be the Kansas governor. But the president insisted he would sweep the west even against a "cornfield Coolidge." But his guest declared that many western states could be tipped over because of resentment the Progressives felt against the policy of neglecting them in favor of reactionary Democrats in their territory. "It's not a sure thing by a long shot," was the parting filing, "and the sooner you realize it, the better off you'll be."

LONESOME

A recent incident on Capitol Hill reveals why Senate Republicans are the despair of back-stage strategists striving to discredit the Democrats and store up high explosives for the presidential campaign.

When Senator Vandenberg resumed his one-man offensive with a prepared attack on WPA, he faced only three listeners on the G. O. P. side of the aisle. No Republican arose every so often to ask questions designed to strengthen and elaborate the speaker's argument that WPA is riddled with politics. Even his eminent rivals for the nomination—Messrs. Borah and Dickinson—were among the missing.

Across the chamber sat 20 Democrats, following each word. Majority leaders and White House spokesmen snapped their fingers for papers; soon their desks were piled high with books and documents. Both fired return volleys. Reading from a WPA clipping-file, Mr. Byrnes quoted Michigan officials and editorials in favor of "boondoggling." The most glowing eulogy among these came from the lips of Mayor Couzens of Detroit, son of Vandenberg's colleague. This heads-up counter-attack proved too much even for the stalwart but lonesome Vandenberg.

SPEED

The house of representatives has been accused of being a "rubber stamp" body ever since President Roosevelt started flinging complex bills at its head more than three years ago. It's an indictment which irritates the men at both ends of Pennsylvania avenue.

But veteran observers who watch these things more than the house hit a golden high in "rubber stamping" within recent days. The leaders allowed only 16 hours of debate for a 240-page tax bill providing almost $1,300,000,000 in new revenue. Then they permitted the statesmen to talk for seven hours on the $2,300,000,000 deficiency-relief measure.

Both measures, though they are as understandable as Sanskrit to most members, shot through in the allotted time. At that rate the house appropriated more than $26,000,000 a minute. But the bosses evened the balance when they gave only six hours for discussion of the $3,000,000,000 Francis-Lemke farm-refinancing proposition. Talk—and money—are cheap in the house which explains why there are more grey hairs in the senate.

School Visits

Approximately 225 parents viewed Willard exhibits last week when a large number visited the classrooms and were interested spectators while the regular classes were in progress.

Seventh grade visiting day was Tuesday, the eighth grade Wednesday, and the ninth grade Thursday. The winning class in the seventh grade was the H-217 home room with a total of 18 visitors; the highest eighth grade class, which was the H-105 had 14 visitors; while H-9-N's had a total of 25 visitors. The "N's" will have a free period on the day they choose. So far they have won every visiting week contest held since they were L's.

Many of the classes had notebooks, maps, posters or drawings on display while the regular classroom work was carried on; so that the parents could get a true picture of the school. Many of the parents were guests of their children at noon lunch in the cafeteria.

Committees for the teas which were held right after school on the three days were: Tuesday, Miss Plumb, hostess; Miss Ball and Miss Mary Jane Steel, co-hostesses; Mrs. Minge, flower chairman; Mr. Lund, Mr. Read, Mr. Hicks, Mrs. Allen, Miss Elliott, Mrs. M. D. Scott, assistants.

On Wednesday Mrs. Maurine Scott was hostess; Mrs. Budd and Miss Fanny Steel, co-hostesses; Mrs. Smith, flower chairman; Mrs. Whitaker, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Froeschle and Mr. Bracewell, assistants.

On Thursday Mrs. Lund was hostess; Mrs. Cuddy, co-hostess; Miss Libby, flower chairman; Mr. Horn, Mr. Niewanger, Mrs. Meeks and Miss Anderson were the assistants.

Members of the student body government, commissioners, and safety committee members acted as guides during the visiting days.

Honor Society

Patty Redman, Donna Spencer, Harriett Hougham, Martha Powell, and Dorothy Parker were voted into the Honor society at the first meeting of the semester, May 7.

Invitations from the Planetarium, Huntington Library, Whittier college, Redlands university, Pomona college, University of California

Los Angeles, University of Southern California, and Exposition Park in Los Angeles have been extended to the Honor society for its regular semester trip.

It was decided that if Hamlin Garland is to be at the University of California exhibiting a collection of old manuscripts, the society will make its visit there; otherwise members will visit the Planetarium, according to Mrs. M. L. Scott, adviser.

Poster Contest

Ted Benedict is being congratulated on winning first prize in the opera poster contest. Gregory Chairez was a close second.

Dick Lippincott, Juanita Jones, Forest Bacon, Adeline Nakagawa, Jean Wallace, Genevieve Straw, Margaret Moxley, Velma Stroud, and Dorothy Lay received honorable mention. Each was given a free ticket to the opera.

These posters advertised "All Baba and the Forty Thieves."

Willard opera to be presented Thursday afternoon for Willard students. There will be a performance for Lathrop students Friday afternoon, followed by an evening performance for adults.

Club Picnic

Martha Powell, chairman of the program committee, presided over the Social Law club's annual picnic held at Irvine park, at the beginning of May.

Dance furnished by Mrs. Mize, Mrs. Rags, Mrs. Budd, Mrs. Ashmore, Mrs. Emison, Mr. Owens, Howard Rapp and Maurice Young, left immediately after school Friday. Picnickers participated in baseball games, horseback riding, hiking, bicycle riding and various games until 5:30 o'clock when dinner was served by Mrs. Damerell and Miss Lash from the Willard cafeteria.

Interesting talks on hobbies were given by John Geddes, who talked on collecting guns and told about the development of the gun; George Hart, who told about his chipmunk pets and showed a water snake which was given him at the park; Marjorie Mize, who talked about the California tennis champion, Henry Segerstrom, who talked on popular hobbies; Doris Cave on the benefits of a hobby; and Muriel Walker on trinket collecting. Voluntary talks on horseback riding were given by Anna Barry and Elaine Owens.

Sponsors present included Mrs. Budd, Mrs. Wright and Mr. Read.

Assembly Programs

Short scenes from the opera "All Baba and the Forty Thieves," were presented in two assemblies, a lower and an upper division, Friday, May 1. The principals were introduced, and the Girls' Glee club was shown in a palace scene.

Directly after the opera scenes the students went to their homerooms where tickets were given to them to sell. To the student that sells the most tickets, a prize of $1 will be given, and one free period to the homeroom with the largest per cent.

Initiation Rites

The chief delicacy served to a host of eighth graders at a recent initiation was fudge, filled with garlic, vinegar, carrots, beans, and chopped up rubber bands. To put a little color in the picture the initiates' faces were painted with lipstick. Then of course there were the swats (just little love taps). These were given when it was necessary, and that was often.

Those on the initiating committee included Anita Potter, Martha Grace Powell, Louise Bennett, Elaine Marks, Anna Barry, Arthur Beard, Howard Rapp, John Geddes and Miss Anderson, who was in charge.

One Act Play

A one-act play entitled "Teapot on the Rock," presented by Mr. Swartout's high school drama class, featured a recent lower division assembly.

Members of the cast included Mary Ellen Dudley as Mary; Ruth Greenwald as Daisy; Gerry Gilbert as Mrs. Carstairs; Bill Christ as Roy; Kenny Oliphant as Willie, and Jack Wood as the gas man.

Virginia Campbell played a piano solo entitled "The March of the Dwarfs." Mr. Auer and three of his students gave three trumpet solos.

Concluding the program, which was presented by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. M. D. Scott, was a clever reading by Joan Hockaday.

Christian Science

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text was from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians: "What man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God."

The Lesson-Sermon included these other Bible verses from Paul's epistles: To the Romans: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light;" To the Ephesians: "For we were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord; walk as children of light;... Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were these: "Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift even the physical and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light."

Alaska, which the United States bought from Russia for $7,200,000, has produced $600,000,000 worth of minerals since 1880.

FIRST FASCIST RULE IN AMERICAS

THREE years of enervating war with Bolivia, over a steaming, uninhabitable jungle area called the Gran Chaco, had left Paraguay weak and exhausted. A commission of six neutral American countries had met to arrange peace terms when Col. Rafael Franco, hero of the Chaco, led an army of rebellion against the liberal government of President Eusebio Ayala. The war had cost thousands of lives to gain much of the disputed Chaco territory, and Franco did not want to compromise now.

As a result, Franco has become president of Paraguay, and has declared the first Fascist regime in the western hemisphere. He has suspended all political activity for one year, and has placed the control of all industries under the minister of the interior. The action has left the peace conference in doubt over the outcome of the entire Chaco affair, although Franco has promised a "just" peace with Bolivia.

At any rate, the map shown on the accompanying stamp, which was issued in 1927, is destined to be changed somewhat.

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH LORD, SERMON TOPIC

"What Shall I Do With Lord" was the subject chosen by the Rev. Harry Evan Owens, pastor of the First Baptist church, in his sermon Sunday morning. He spoke in part as follows:

"What shall I do unto him whom you call the King of the Jews? It is the question that Pilate asked but would gladly have avoided if he could. So many a man would escape an answer to that question because it is most annoying and troublesome at times. Other questions seem to press with more immediacy for answer, and yet most important issues in an individual's life and career, his family, community, and entire social life hang upon the answer.

"The answer involves something much deeper than the use of the highest terms and phrases we can use about Jesus.

"To call Christ, Lord, but strive not to obey

Belies the homage that with words we pay.

"It takes in the total response of one's personality to His personality. It involves how highly we regard Him as a friend and comrade and how much we are willing and glad to associate with Him.

"Two men were attracted to Jesus one day and almost instinctively followed a few paces behind Him as He walked on. When He turned to ask them when they wanted His reply was, 'Come and see.' They decided then and there what they would do with Jesus. To live with Him and live where He lived became for them at that moment their life quest. Those who have reached the same decision have come up from lower to higher levels of life. The question involves whether we live with Him or not and thus take on His traits of life and His spirit.

"See though how the question strikes another vital spot. It causes one to decide whether he is willing to follow closely the teaching, the principles, the desires and wishes of Jesus. What do we do with Him when He tells us to be habitually pure in mind and action? What do we do with Him when He warns us to bear no malice or resentment toward a fellow-man? What do we do with Him when He makes the high test of discipleship whether we have a high appreciation of each human being, even the least?

"In a thousand and one decisions and contacts with one's fellows during the daily round of activities, the individual is reaching just about that many decisions as to what he will do with Jesus. For Jesus so identified Himself with needy humanity that he said the deed done to the least one or neglected was a case of kindness to or of neglect of Him.

"We may notice too that in the last analysis the question becomes, what will I allow Jesus to do to me? Upon that rests the kind of character and personality the individual is to have. As the sunshine and the fresh air are freely offered for our benefit, and health of body depends upon what we let them do to us, so the grace and charm and power of the personality of Jesus are freely placed at our disposal and the nobleness and sublimity of our lives is determined by what we let Him do to us.

"Dr. Charles L. Goodell tells us of the long years of toil and difficult work through which the sweet singer of the village choir became the great Nordic, queen of song, to whose voice the world listened. He tells us that the transformation occurred because over the period of the years she placed herself for instruction and training in the hands of the world's great master of singing. In even the lowliest men great good comes in and issues forth when they put themselves in the hands of the Master of life and character."

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Today's brain fun has an unusual slant to it and you will find it quite amusing. Try it this way:

Take your age, multiply by 2, add 5, multiply by 50, subtract the number of days in the year (365) add the amount of your pocket change (any amount up to ninety-nine cents) and add 115. The first two digits in the result will represent your age, the last two the amount of your change. Then go out and see if you can find someone who knows why this is true. There is no other answer but you can have a lot of fun baffling your friends with this one.

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler
Place a coin at any star point. Move it in a straight line to the to the opposite point. Place the second coin at the point which leads to the point you started from. Then place the third coin at the point which leads to the second starting point. Continue this until all seven coins are placed on star points.

Camel's Aid to Digestion...the Increase in Alkalinity...Confirmed by Science

Hurry, worry, and noise tend to slow down the flow of the digestive fluids. Scientists have found that smoking Camels encourages the normal flow of digestive fluids...alkaline digestive fluids...so necessary to the enjoyment of food and for good digestion. Smoke Camels...for their cheering "lift"...for digestion's sake.

LOUIS IN SPOT TO DICTATE TO CHAMPION BRADDOCK

LAKEWOOD, N. J., May 18.—Louis, the champion, is in a spot to dictate to champion Braddock. Louis, the champion, is in a spot to dictate to champion Braddock.

They have promoters building 'em, press agents writing about 'em, and everything is made just grand for 'em, asserts "Jack" Blackburn, who has trained and seconded Joe Louis since the Brown Bomber launched his professional career and who now is preparing him for his 15-round encounter with Max Baer at Yankee stadium June 18.

Louis will collect close to a quarter million this trip. "It wasn't that way when Professor Billy McCarney picked me up in Indianapolis," explains the razor-engraved Blackburn. "A fellow had to build himself then. It was hard work. You had to fight to get fights. Even now, Professor McCarney in your corner, there was no running around taking the best offers. You took any offer."

EGGS FOR RAINY DAY

"I'll bet that they ain't none of the present-day fighters who knows what it is to lay an egg. They don't have to do it, but laying eggs was the only way we made money fighting."

"It things was as tough now as it was when I was fighting, you would know all about this egg-laying business."

"Along about 1903, when I often thought of returning to my boot-black stand in Indiana, I was only way a good fighter could keep busy and make money was to go into small towns and meet the favorite of the community. We always carried him along, made the home town boy look good. We fought just enough to win the decision. That's what we

WILSON FIRST IN S. C. PREP MEET; WHITNEY, NITTA AND BATES PLACE FOR SANTA ANA

Woodrow Wilson, champion of the Southern C. I. F. as a result of a victory in the Long Beach 100-yard dash, showed a well balanced team but on the whole the performances in the meet did not measure up to those of other years.

Wilson made 27 1/2 points, virtually doubling the score of the runner-up, Muir Tech of Pasadena, second with 14.

Wilson, who won the 100-yard dash with 10 1/2 and Long Beach Poly fifth at 9 7/8.

For the first time in years not a single record fell. A potential mark-smasher, Bayer of Paso Robles, did not compete in the 800 because of tonsillitis so the standard set in 1935 by Santa Ana's Ray Cartwright still stands.

At Gridley, Southern athletes will meet a formidable group, especially from the Northern Coast section. Hay of Berkeley ran the half Saturday in 2:00.2. Brooks of San Jose took the 100 in 10 flat. Hill of the California Deaf school put the shot 32.4. Steers of Palo Alto high jumped 6.3. Scott of Tamalpais negotiated the mile in 4:33. These marks bettered or approached those at Long Beach.

Orange county's only representative in the state meet will be Larry Valero of Valencia high school at Placentia who has the Southern section mile in 4:30.2, the best time of his career. Valero took the lead on the backstretch of the last lap and was five yards ahead at the finish.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

Every year thousands of motorists are killed or injured when blow-outs throw cars out of control. To trust to luck when it comes to tires is to invite a serious and costly accident—or worse!

Motorists who ignore the danger of blow-outs are making a big mistake. Because at today's high speeds terrific heat is generated inside the tire. Rubber and fabric begin to separate. A tiny blister forms. Bigger and bigger grows this invisible blister. Then it's just a matter of time when BANG! A blow-out!

To protect you against such danger, every new Goodrich Silvertown is built with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, a layer of special rubber and full floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating—it keeps blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

Right now is the time to fix your car for safe summer driving by putting on a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns. They cost no more than other standard tires. Come in today.

Coast Preps Get 2 Teams

C. I. F. OUSTS GRID PRACTICE DURING SPRING

Woodrow Wilson and Herbert Hoover were never on the same political bandwagon but next year Woodrow Wilson high school and Herbert Hoover high school both will be fellow members of an enlarged Coast Preparatory league.

Wilson (Long Beach) and Hoover (San Diego) were switched from the Bay to Coast league at a meeting of the Southern C. I. F. They will complete the school year in the Bay league but enter the Coast league fold for football next fall.

Officials of the "new" Coast league for two years have been trying in the wilderness for at least two new members to join Santa Ana, San Diego, Long Beach Poly and Alhambra—meet someday this week to reorganize and probably draw up a 1936 football schedule at San Diego.

Woodrow Wilson, which is coached by a Seventh Day Adventist, was given permission to play all its games on Fridays. And the "city championship" games between Wilson and Poly in Long Beach and Hoover and San Diego in San Diego will be held on Thanksgiving day.

Overhauled by these developments was the adoption of a strict rule forbidding spring practice after this year. No football equipment will be issued from the close of the season until the first school in the league begins class work in September.

All Southern California playoffs in Classes B and C were eliminated. In Phoenix high school of Arizona was admitted as a "passive member" of the C. I. F. and will be allowed to schedule games with Southern California teams.

Seth Van Patten, C. I. F. commissioner, was reelected for one year after he announced he would retire at that time.

Kinter Hamilton of Los Angeles was elected president of the C. I. F., succeeding J. W. Means of Tustin.

Three Santa Anas—Mitsuo Nitta, Herschel Whitney and Byram Bates—placed in the limited events. Nitta vaulted 11 feet, 6 inches to tie for first in the Class B pole vault. Whitney was a close third in the 1320. Bates second at 21 feet, 7 1/2 inch in the Class C broad jump.

100-yard dash—Won by Anderson (Muir Tech, Pasadena), Casey (Furness, Santa Ana) second, Putnam (Wilson, Long Beach) third, Cupepper (Riverside) fourth, Bass (Corona) fifth. Time, 16.8.

200-yard dash—Won by Sims (Santa Monica), Bass (Corona) second, Putnam (Wilson, Long Beach) third, Anderson (Muir Tech) fourth, Serey (Santa Paula) fifth. Time, 34.4.

440-yard dash—Won by Gray (Wilson, Long Beach), Nichol (Claremont) second, Harris (Chaffey) third, Sexton (Long Beach Poly) fourth, Cass (San Bernardino) fifth. Time, 2:22.

880-yard run—Won by DeLapp (Montebello), Christian (Redondo Beach) second, Thompson (Chaffey) third, Scott (Long Beach Poly) fourth, Wager (Orange) fifth. Time, 22.2.

1 1/2 mile run—Won by Valero (Valencia), Furstinger (Inglewood) second, Smith (Covina) third, Stevens (Inglewood) fourth, Miller (Glendale) fifth. Time, 10m. 36.2s.

3 1/2 mile run—Won by Fortness (Santa Paula), Seares (Wilson, Long Beach) second, Rowe (San Bernardino) third, Shaver (Glendale) fourth, Cassiotti (Chaffey) fifth. Time, 15.5s.

Gene Hopes It'll Be a Daughter

"I want a girl," is probably the theme song about Gene Tunney's household these days. According to rumor, the one-time world's heavyweight boxing champion and his wife, shown dining above, are expecting another little Tunney within the next several weeks, and Gene hopes it will be a girl. They already have two sons; Gene Lauder, 5, and James Joseph, 3.

WAR ON MAT TRUST DELAYED

Wrestlers As Well As Promoters to Join Sampson

HURL CHALLENGE AT COMBINE

Because Promoter Sam Sampson is not quite ready to launch his war on the so-called wrestling "trust" the Orange County Athletic club will be dark tonight.

"Everything is set, however," Sampson told The Register, "for the resumption of wrestling here next Monday night."

It is understood that Sampson has been joined in his fight to stage independent shows by three other Southland promoters, but refused to disclose their name at this time.

"These men feel the same about the whole thing as I do," said the Orange county promoter, "but are not quite ready to reveal their plans."

"One thing, though, I anticipate the jumping of several top-notch men from the 'trust' and already have the assurance of Nick Lutze, Vic Christy, Hans Steinko and one or two others of their support."

"I'm willing to back Lutze, Christy or Steinko against Vincent Lopez, Sandoz Szabo, Savoldi or any of the topnotchers under the management of the combine."

"Already I have secured such men as Prof. Yamada, Jude inductor from Bolsa and Talbert; Perry Martter, former Olympic Games champion, and one of the few men in the world to beat Midget Fisher, middleweight champion; Joe Vargas, Mexican Olympic Games middleweight and light-heavyweight champion in 1933, who lives at Garden Grove; Johnny Borges, Tony Arevalles, Sammy Gonzales, Bill Lidoff, Ivan Matchenoff, Dave Sampson, Pat McGill, Red Armstrong, "Buck" Weber, "Dutch" Howland, Wild Bill Kimball, "Whattaman" McCarthy, and "Roughhouse" Eyer and others to appear in future Orange county matches.

"My first step will be to challenge Lopez or Szabo in behalf of one of my leaders, and if necessary I'll post a forfeit and file the challenge with the state athletic commission."

Sampson fully intended to introduce his "independent" troupe tonight but an injury to one of his trust-busters and the request of Prof. Yamada for a week's honeymoon, led the O. C. A. C. promoter to hold up his inaugural show one week.

Sampson said the club's regular boxing show would be held Thursday night. He is after a "suitable opponent" for Lupe LeMon for his main event.

Seven Straight Wins Keep N. Y. On Cards' Heels

NEW YORK, May 18.—(UP)—The New York Giants went after the St. Louis Cardinals' National league leadership today with a seven-game winning streak—the season's longest—powering their drive.

The New Yorkers haven't lost a game since May 9, when they were knocked over by the Philadelphia Phillies. That was the day that Manager Bill Terry injected himself into the Giant lineup to replace Sam Leslie at first base. Terry was hit safely in every game since and the Giants have won two from the Phils, two from the Chicago Cubs and a pair from Cincinnati. Yesterday Terry let Leslie go back to his position and directed the Giants' 8 to 6 win over Pittsburgh from the coaching line.

The victory enabled the Giants to keep within a half-game of the leading Cardinals.

CALIFORNIA'S RACE SEASON COMPLETED

SAN MATEO, May 18.—(UP)—Race horses were moved out of the stalls at Bay Meadows track over the week-end and today were shipped to northern and eastern points for competition in various track events.

TWO CONTESTS TONIGHT OPEN COUNTY LEAGUE

Third and last of the section's major softball circuits to pry off the lid, the Orange County Night league formally inaugurates a three-month, 25-game championship season tonight.

Huntington Beach opens against the new Anaheim club at Anaheim and San Juan Capistrano will be at Irvine. The other "first night" will be delayed until tomorrow when Placentia takes on Brea at Brea. Olive, 1935 champion, is not represented this year.

The "B" league setup is new from how to stern. Vic Rudy of Anaheim and Walter Collins of Santa Ana have replaced Victor Walker and Bill Cole of Santa Ana as president and secretary, respectively. New rules have been adopted—affecting the ball, baselines and pitching distance—to conform to the National Night league. Three of the old clubs have fallen by the wayside, a new one added.

Brea, runner-up to Brea last season, is a slight favorite as the clubs approach the starting gate. Manager Virgil Kigler has a veteran team, with Rudy Montgomery back for pitching duty. Huntington Beach should be a contender with the return of Urban Peltzer, a promising pitcher. Irvine had a great pre-league record due largely to the renascence of Pitchers Ira DeBunk and Ray Hodgson. The acquisition of "Slow-Time" Lloyd Lichtenwalter makes Anaheim a real threat. The Brothers Jones—Bill, Bob and Del—make Placentia a troublesome. And San Juan Capistrano, while claiming nothing, will be right in the race.

The first-half will be a three-round affair closing July 6. There will be a week's bye between halves, the second-half opening July 16 and closing August 17. A seven-game series between the divisional champions will follow.

BANKERS SEEK 3RD WIN

The Commercial National bank's ball team goes after its third successive City league victory in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl tonight, tackling the Carpenters in the 9 o'clock nightcap. The Carpenters showed great improvement in defeating the Latter Day Saints last week and might give the undefeated bank outfit unexpected competition.

The 7:30 game matches the Mormons and Joe's Grocery.

Standings:

Commercial Nat'l Bank 2 0 1000

BOLD VENTURE TO TAKE ON BREVITY, GRANVILLE JUNE 6

NEW YORK, May 18.—(UP)—Morton L. Schwartz's Bold Venture, winner of both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, will receive his final test of greatness when he faces both Brevity and Granville in the Belmont Stakes June 6.

The great three-year-old thundered into the stretch to nose out Granville in the Preakness Saturday, becoming thereby the fifth horse in history to capture both the Pimlico and Churchill features. Sir Barton, Gallant Fox, Burgo King and Omaha were the others.

The "Bold One" was returned to his Belmont Park quarters yesterday. Trainer Mark Hirsch said that he would not ship the colt west for the Latonia Derby Saturday, and that there was consequently a bare possibility that he would be entered in the Withers Stake to compete with Brevity at Belmont. Granville's inability to finish the Withers prevents a comparison with Brevity before the Belmont Stakes.

Saint Stars Help Lehrs Win, 11-10

Strengthened by the addition of several former Santa Ana high school ball players, Lehr's Service pounded out an 11-0 victory over Monrovia Sunday. Harvey Hemphill fielded sensationally at second base and Ferris Wall tripled with the bases full.

The score:

Lehr's Service AB R H

Westminster Game To Be Played Here

Westminster baseball officials today completed arrangements to play their National Night league contest with Santa Ana, scheduled at Westminster tomorrow night, in the Municipal Bowl here.

Uncertainty over the status of Westminster's park, due for an airing in superior court Wednesday, was given as the reason.

Francis Conrad, stellar shortstop, may rejoin the Stars for the conflict with the Aviators, and is almost sure to be in the lineup Friday when Santa Ana takes on Orange at the Bowl.

FOUR LEFT IN STRUGGLE FOR PRESIDENT CUP

Competition for the President's Cup narrowed today to the four golfers who meet in the semi-final round this week at the Santa Ana Country club.

M. N. Thompson will meet R. C. Hollis, and Elmer Curry opposes Robert Korff.

Thompson, a member of the club's "A" team, must give Hollis three holes. Curry allows Korff four.

In last week's quarter-finals, Hollis eliminated Ralph Gray, 2 and 1. Thompson had to go to the twenty-first hole before Ward Akley surrendered. Curry ousted Herb Miller, 2 and 1, and Korff beat A. A. Beard on the nineteenth.

Pairings in the Defeated flight: Harry Olson (d. Buck Remley) vs. Dr. C. E. Jeweller (d. C. V. Davis); L. W. Bemis (d. H. A. Gardner) vs. George Osterman (d. Dean Campbell); Hugh Shields (d. Telford Thronson) vs. J. W. Beach (d. R. E. Hostetter); J. E. Liebig (d. George Parker) vs. Bob Miller (d. H. J. Lowe).

Saturday's sweepstakes winners: L. D. Colting and C. W. Jordan, 74-9-65; E. H. Guthrie and M. N. Thompson, 74-8-66; F. E. Farnsworth and L. W. Bemis, 75-6-69; M. B. Lacy and L. J. Bushard, 75-10-69.

INDIANAPOLIS RACE CRASHES CONTINUE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18.—(UP)—Half the field of 33 was qualified today for the annual 500-mile speedway classic Memorial Day, despite three crashes which threatened the lives of five men.

Widening of curves, strengthening of retaining walls around the 21-2 mile oval and a limit on fuel, failed to prevent spills. Ralph Hepburn, veteran Los Angeles driver, became the third victim when his car bounced off the wall at 117 miles an hour and spun into the infield badly damaged. Hepburn was unhurt.

Tony Guiletti and his mechanic, Carl Rescigno, were injured Friday. Mauri Rose and Earl Foss walked away from their wrecked car which hit the wall at high speed the same day.

Eight more pilots qualified yesterday. They earned positions behind the first nine, including Ray Mays of Glendale, Cal., who gained the pole position for the second straight year.

Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, led the day's qualifiers with an average of 117.500. Floy Royce, 1934 champion, edged his car in with an average of 115.939 after his first mark of 113.845 was erased because he used more than the 21-2 gallons of fuel permitted.

Other qualifying speeds were: "Shorty" Canton, Detroit, 116.912; Ted Horn, Los Angeles, 116.564; Fred Wynn, Philadelphia, 116.221; George Barringer, Wichita Falls, Texas, 112.700; Floyd Roberts, Van Nuys, Calif., 112.493, and Jimmy Snyder, Chicago, 111.291.

WHITTIER, May 18.—(UP)—Curley-headed Frank Wyckoff, now a high school instructor who divides his time between the classroom and the cinderpath will bid for his third Olympic berth in a track and field carnival here Tuesday night.

The comeback attempt of the former Glendale sprinter, is expected to overshadow feats of an extended list of Far Western track stars, tapering off before the official Olympic tryouts.

The sandy-haired speedburner, winged to fame as a member of the American team in Amsterdam in 1928, will compete against Southern California's captain and chief foe, Foy Draper; the second Trojan dash entry, George Boone, and two minor satellites, Milton Holt of the Olympic club, and Mack Robinson, Pasadena junior college runner.

Wyckoff, who placed fourth in Amsterdam, holds the official world mark for the 100-yard race at 9.4. The record was set at Occidental in 1932.

U. S., BRITISH CHAMPS FIRST ROUND VICTIMS

SOUTHPORT, ENGL., May 18.—(UP)—Two major champions—the American titleholder and British defender—were eliminated in the first round of the British Women's golf championship today.

They were Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane of Philadelphia and Wanda Morgan of Weststable, Kent.

Mrs. Vane went out of the tournament along with Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, Tex., and Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City. That left five Americans in the running for the only major British links title which never has crossed the Atlantic.

Mrs. Vane, six-times American champion and runner-up in the British event in 1929 and 1930, was eliminated, 5 and 3, by Charlotte Glutting of South Orange, N. J.—one of the Philadelphia veteran's best friends.

Miss Morgan lost, 3 and 1, to Bridget Newell, young barrister from Derbyshire who won the medal for 36 holes of elimination play.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, who led the field at the end of Friday's first qualifying round, lost 4 and 2 to Mrs. H. V. Newton, 35-year-old brown-haired star who was a semi-finalist in the 1923 and 1925 tournaments.

Mrs. Hill, who suffered the worst beating of any of the American Curtis Cup stars in the recent tournament, with Britain's women, was eliminated by Molly Gourlay, of England, 3 and 2.

The other Americans scored easy victories over British opponents. Patty Berg of Minneapolis routed Mrs. M. Barron of England 6 and 5. Leona Cheney of Santa Monica, Cal., scored an equally impressive victory over Mrs. Helen Holm of Troon, Scotland, who had whipped Miss Berg in the recent Curtis Cup singles.

Maureen O'Rourke, of Coral Gables, Fla., winner of the qualifying medal in the '32 tournament, whipped Mrs. D. D. Grant-White of Ireland, 4 and 3, while Marion Miley, dark-haired, pretty Lexington, Ky., star eliminated Doris Park of England, 4 and 3.

The 32 survivors will play two 18-hole rounds tomorrow, which will reduce the field to eight. Quarter and semi-finals are scheduled Friday with the 36-hole finals Thursday.

Despite elimination of three of their members, the Americans still were in a good spot to win the title. Each quarter of the draw contains at least one American.

Tomorrow's morning pairings: Patty Berg vs. Elsie Corlett; Marion Miley vs. Miss M. S. Frank; Mrs. Crews vs. Nell Forrest; Miss Glutting vs. Dorothy Pearsons and Mrs. Cheney vs. Jean Hamilton.

HOLD HEARING ON NEW BRIDGE AT BEACH SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, May 18.—Construction of a vehicular bridge across Harbor island channel from Harbor island to the mainland is awaiting permission from the war department. Public hearings on the application, filed by J. A. Beck and Louis W. Briggs, will be held by war department engineers at the city hall in Newport Beach at 10 a. m. May 25.

The bridge will replace a similar structure removed several weeks ago during progress of dredging operations conducted by the Irvine company on its property abutting the channel. The new structure will be approximately 300 feet east of the site of the old bridge.

With a total length of 174 feet, the bridge will extend between the proposed bulkhead lines along Harbor island channel. It is to be a fixed type structure with wooden deck supported on concrete piles, except that the central span is to be supported on timber piles. The central span will have a clear width of 20 feet and a vertical clearance of 14.5 feet above mean lower low water.

Construction will cost approximately $3000, according to present estimates, and will get under way immediately after permission is received from the war department.

All interested parties, particularly navigation interests, and the officials of any city, county or local association whose local interests may be affected by construction of the proposed work, are invited to be represented at the hearing. They will be given an opportunity to express their views on the suitability of the location and the adequacy of the plans with reference to navigation, and to suggest changes considered desirable in the interests of navigation.

19TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY HARBOR GROUP

NEWPORT BEACH, May 18.—Over 350 people, members and guests of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, visited at club headquarters on Bay avenue Saturday night and Sunday, when the club celebrated its nineteenth anniversary and held its annual "Ship's Dress" yacht inspection.

When Mr. Rohl cut the cake the first piece went to Senior Staff Commodore Albert Solland in appreciation for the many favors he has shown the organization.

Elaborate decorations in the clubhouse were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, club managers.

IDEAL WEATHER DRAWS CROWD TO BEACH CITY FOR WEEK END

LAGUNA BEACH, May 18.—Ideal weather conditions attracted the largest week end crowd of the year to Laguna Beach. All hotels were crowded, the Hotel Laguna, Case del Camino, Coast Inn, Cottage City, Villa and other hostilities reporting capacity bookings. Crowds estimated at between three and four thousand thronged the beaches and coves on both days. Fishing was good, a four and a half pound corbina being landed by Earl S. Kittle Jr.

A group of 36 girls, sophomores, juniors and seniors from Tustin Union High school, under chaperonage of Miss Stella Youm and Miss Frances Parks, conducted an initiation of candidates for the Girls' Athletic association of Tustin High.

Laguna Dance pavilion was crowded Saturday night, the music of Frank Niemann's orchestra providing the attraction that has popularized the pavilion.

Hundreds of swimmers of all ages sported in the sea, under the eyes of life-guardians stationed at strategic points. No mishaps of any kind were reported.

Under a heavy traffic test, the parking situation was handled smoothly, recently-adopted parallel parking providing its value in keeping the traffic stream moving. Side streets available for parking, and several large lots, were taxed to capacity. Police arrangements perfected by Chief Abe W. Johnson, assisted by Traffic Officers Paul W. Johnson, Howard Allanson, Richard Smith and Jack Blakeney proved adequate.

Sunday afternoon, a band concert at the Art gallery attracted a large audience. Eddie Klein's band of 32 pieces under auspices of the Federal Musical project of Orange county, rendered a program of classical, popular and patriotic music, while, inside the gallery, a tea was given by the art association to an unusually large attendance of visitors who viewed the current exhibit of paintings, watercolors, etchings and sculpture.

FINES OF DRIVERS SUSPENDED AFTER LECTURE BY JUDGE

LA HABRA, May 18.—Twenty drivers given tickets last Monday evening for crowding on close to the fire truck on a practice run were arraigned before Municipal Judge H. A. Robinson Friday for sentence. They were reprimanded by the judge who suspended their fines on condition that they promise not to "chase" the fire truck and get so close as to hinder the efforts of the department either in a practice run or while fighting a real fire.

Thinking, thinking what could she do! Until she realized that there was little that one lone woman could do.

But she wasn't alone. She had Dix who loved her, Dix who was her own kind, Dix who was going to make her his wife. Dix would settle Basil Thorne.

That night, dining with Dix, she said, "Darling, I want you to promise me that when I tell you something you won't lose your temper. I want you to be calm."

"You've decided to buy that police pup?" Dix hadn't wanted her to have it.

"Silly!" she laughed. "I wish it did only concern the pup. We'll take that up later. No, it's something much more serious."

"Let me think," Dix looked toward the ceiling. "You've gotten in a jam at the bank again because you won't keep your checkbook straight? You've bought me a necktie you 'just couldn't resist'?"

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO,

WRITING —TO SELL—

By ETHEL K. LOCKWOOD

The beginning writer, confronted with a mass of "real life" material, almost invariably asks: "Shall I use this material exactly as it was given to me?"

The answer, in most instances, is "No."

You should use only the parts of real life material that will make your story dramatic and interesting. Much dramatic real life material is touched with the sordid. A life story that is really dramatic usually takes its things that would not make good reading.

You, as a writer, are obligated to furnish your readers with "good reading." If the material you have contains anything that may insult the intelligence or sensibilities of the average person, this part should be omitted, and attention concentrated on material that will develop into a dramatic, interesting story.

Another reason why "real life" material needs pruning: Most lives are dramatic only in spots. Something happens—then for a long period of time life is dull, uneventful. For the purpose of story-telling, you need to pull this scattered material together, intensify it, build it up.

"But it really happened that way!" the outraged beginner protests when you ask him to wield the blue pencil on his prize material.

Here you have to be kind and gentle, although your impulse is to cry out: "And so what?"

Not until we are ready to discard any unnecessary material for the good of the story, are we ready to write. Not until we can swallow our pride and egotism and look at the thing honestly, and without bias, are we ready to tackle the big job of becoming a writer.

Having decided you will prune that "real life" material, your next step is to decide what to cut. You can use this yardstick to advantage: "Does this contribute to the story as a whole; does it develop the characters, advance the plot?"

Once the point of your story is carefully thought out, you will want to work toward it with each paragraph. And the material for each paragraph will need to be carefully thought out. You should not be content with anything that is not essential, and you will find much of your "real life" material does not measure up to this requirement.

Perhaps—as is often the case—you have only part of your story in the real life happenings. If that is true, do not attempt to accept them as the whole thing, but use them to develop a much more dramatic end than would probably come in real life. This will require very little work if you have a good opening incident, and any imagination at all.

Avoid coincidence, although real life is full of it. Why coincidence should be so thoroughly taboo is not for me to say. I only know it is. And since I am out to write stories that will sell, I avoid coincidence, and advise others to do so. You can nearly always avoid coincidence by the simple expedient of sending your character after what he wants, which strengthens the story.

John, who is in love with Mary, accidentally meets her on the post office steps, John, who is in love with Mary, and knowing that she usually goes to the post office at a certain time each day, deliberately goes there to intercept her. Much stronger this last way, isn't it?

JIMMY FIDLER in —HOLLYWOOD—

HOLLYWOOD, May 18.—Idle chatter: Joel McCrea sulks when Frances Dee McCrea wears any makeup other than lipstick—but he insists on that touch. John Boles is never "at home" when autograph hunters ring his doorbell, unless they persist; then he receives them graciously. Candidate for the prettiest legs in Hollywood: Merle Oberon; oh my yes! Gordon and Revel, song writers, took along a portable piano on their last trans-continental flight. It cost them $163.20 excess baggage, and they will need a best seller to repay all that expense. Jean Harlow's lovely nose is upturned, she thinks too much, so she holds her chin way down here. I'm wondering what will happen when she must hold up the chin to offset the inevitable double?

Edward G. Robinson bought 146 pipes for friend-gifting last year.

Robinson smokes cigars when he shaves, stroking his razor around the weed. Add grand fellows: Alice Faye. Marlene Dietrich never passes a mirror without a stare, and a touch of the hand to her hair (poetry, but I am no writer of such); Victor McLaglen carries a roll of dollar bills, and beggars with stories that ring true may be sure of at least one buck. Should Tom Mix lose his all, he has an extra seven thousand dollars invested in solid gold and solid silver initials, buttons and ornaments. Francis Lederer is one of the few actors to profess a preference for light comedy; too bad, because he is one of the few able to enact sheer drama as it should be done.

In my meanderings about the studios, I have run across many stars engaged in collecting autographs. In most instances, they are gathering signatures for staunch fans who have so persuaded them. A few, of course, are collecting autographs for their personal use. I can see little or no value to a collection of famous signatures accumulated by someone else. Autographs, to have real value, must represent more than just sketched letters without meaning behind them. I think local autograph seekers who brave wet, cold nights to approach their favorites at clubs and premieres are understandable. Their collections represent hours of hardship. But if a star presented me with a book of a thousand famous signatures, it would have no more personal value than a printed magazine.

A fortune teller visited a W. C. Fields set yesterday afternoon. She predicted that a beautiful, dark woman would enter Bill's life. "Welcome to her," said Fields. "Never let it be said I turned a beautiful woman away from my door!" The fortune teller's second prediction brought a howl of horror from the comedian. She told him she could see him in connection with a great body of water. "Water!" moaned Fields right out loud. "Madam, you do not know me!"

A story going the Hollywood rounds dates back to Johnny Weissmuller's heyday as a swimming champion. He was told by Chicago Athletic club officials that he was to "race against Yale." "Who's he?" yelled Johnny. "I never heard of him!"

PAGEANT SHOWS ORGANIZATION'S FORWARD MARCH

More than 1000 members of the Orange County Farm Bureau, their families and friends attended the organization's nineteenth anniversary picnic at Irvine park, Saturday afternoon. A pageant "The Farm Bureau Marches on" depicting the organization of the Farm Bureau and its development was the feature presentation on the program.

Holmes Bishop presided as master-of-ceremonies during the pageant. H. B. Woodrough, who served as first president in 1918 and other past presidents honored in the presentation were: W. L. Grubb, W. Dean Johnson, W. L. Relding, Dr. J. R. Scofield, J. A. Smiley, S. W. Stanley, Roy Bishop, John Osterman, Earl E. Campbell, J. W. Crill, F. B. Browning and L. A. Bortz.

The 25 men responsible for the survey which resulted in the organization of the Farm Bureau were Fred Bastady, Henry Wagner, of Anaheim; A. S. Fager, Cypress; S. H. Dwyer, Anaheim; T. E. Proulx, La Habra; C. C. Kinsman, Yorba Linda; S. C. Twombly, Fullerton; J. O. Arkley, Garden Grove; W. H. Kernen of Stanton; W. B. McCoy of Westminster; Carl O. Helm, Olive; James Smiley, West Orange; Wade Flippin, El Modena; Willard Smith, Villa Park; Henry Campbell, McPherson; P. H. Norton, Santa Ana; Arthur McFadden, Irvine; John Osterman, El Toro; W. C. Jerome, Santa Ana; Dr. W. H. Harty, W. O. Newlands of Huntington Beach; F. H. Plavon, Talbert; H. Larter, Westminster; Andrew Moore, Smeltzer; T. M. Talbert of Talbert.

Serving with Woodrough as first president were J. A. Smiley as vice president and S. W. Twombly secretary. The organization of the Orange County Farm Bureau, which resulted in the establishment of state fire trucks and stations in the county, was pictured with John Osterman and John Ragan, prominent in the movement.

R. D. Flaherty, became executive secretary of the bureau in 1921, following Norman Blaney in the office. Harold Wahlberg, became farm adviser in 1918. The organization started with 600 members. The first organization meeting was held October 6, 1917. C. L. Huston of Costa Mesa, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county presided as chairman at the meeting.

Frank Pierce led in group singing during the program and announced that a chorus of 200 members will be found to sing at the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Pasadena in December. A majority of the chorus members will be recruited from Orange County Farm centers.

A number of singing contests were held, a quartet from the Anaheim Farm center winning the contest. The president of the center, W. E. Christensen, was presented with a gavel. A relay race was won by Mrs. Clay Kellogg of Garden Grove with Walter Schmidt and Don Vance as her helpers.

ARABIAN-JEWISH RIOTS IN HOLY LAND TOLD IN LETTER

Rioting and bloodshed between the Arabs and Jews in Palestine is vividly described in a letter to The Register from Ted Jackman, former minister here, who is touring the Holy Land. The letter from Jackman follows:

"Palestine—The Holy Land has once again settled down to a peaceful state—at least we hope so. The past few days have been days of rioting, cold blooded murder and general mob disturbances. The Jews—without a national home—are endeavoring to have a land they can call their own where they can have homes to raise their families. And so we find them returning to their ancient land only to find that the Arabs are hostile.

"This last outbreak has been brewing for some time. We have all known that a clash was inevitable. A few days ago a Jew was riding in a bus and was shot in cold blood by an Arab. Then the other evening some Arabs barricaded the highway near Jerusalem and robbed all that came along. Unfortunately some Jews were in one of the cars and so after robbing them they placed their rifles right against their bodies and killed them just because they were Jews. That was the final touch to start the conflagration, the Arabs had smelled blood, and so that night in Jaffa they started butchering every Jew that they could find. Jaffa and Tel Aviv are neighboring cities the latter being all Jewish and Jaffa predominately Arabic. The highway connecting the two was strewn with the dead and dying. The only Arabs that were killed were those that resisted the police. Many Jews were butchered some beyond all recognition, others were rescued by the police and are recovering in the hospitals.

"It seemed for a time that all Palestine would be thrown into a mad state of war. Here in Jerusalem as everywhere the military police, steel helmeted and with rifles were policing all highways and sections of the cities. Today the report is that it is 'all quiet' but that is only comparatively speaking. Just this morning, when we were starting our friends (Dr. and Mrs. Jefferies) off on their trip to Europe it became necessary to call a police squad for protection. Over 100 Arab students blocked the highway right in front of our house and were stoning all Jewish cars that came along and even some British cars. The police quickly dispersed them and we got the Jefferies to the train that was loaded to capacity mostly with Jews and others that were afraid to travel by car. A strong military escort accompanied the train as the Arabs even stone the train when it goes through Arab villages.

"We are very thankful that this uprising did not take place during Easter week when thousands of wild Arabs were in Jerusalem celebrating Nebbi Musa. The potential possibilities of massacre were very apparent then and it was only because the military police and British soldiers were so much in evidence that a riot did not break out. As the several contingents of Arabs entered Jerusalem from the outlying districts they would put on sword dances and work themselves into a frenzy of hatred for the Jews. One of their many songs or rather outbursts of yelling against the Jews was as follows: 'O Zionists what right have you in this country? What have you in common with us? If you stay in this country you will all find graves.' And so while brandishing their swords and daggers they screamed their desire to murder the Jews. Had this outbreak taken place then there would undoubtedly have been a wholesale massacre of Jews and others. As it was it took three lines of soldiers at the Jaffa gate to keep order. First there was a line of mounted police, then a row of British soldiers backed by another row of native police and of course there were many contingents of soldiers all over the city.

"Although the number of Jewish casualties have been very light, only seventeen to date, with

AUDREY HARRELL WINS PIANO TEST

Audrey Harrell, seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Adeline Harrell, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Cochems, was one of the first place winners in the Festival of Allied Arts of Southern California, held recently in Southern California. She is a piano student of Carolyn Haughton and was awarded first place in the competition for piano students under eight years of age.

Audrey Harrell, and other winners in the various piano divisions of the competition, will play again in Los Angeles May 23. According to a report from the competition, Audrey was the only student in her division that could fill all requirements of the competition. She prepared the work on which the test was based, in three weeks and in addition to the piano numbers required in the contest has a repertoire of 20 selections, from the masters of the classic, romantic and modern schools of composition.

MOUNT SERMON POINTS ROUTE FOR RECOVERY

"It is nonsense to preach about the church triumphant, when 85 per cent of the people in the United States never darken the doors of a church," said the Rev. Edwin O. Colbeck in his sermon yesterday.

"This does not imply that the people are wicked, or unthoughtful of higher things. They merely find contact with God easier on the golf course, the beaches and the mountains. They find more inspiration in the regular theater than in the amateur shows offered by the churches. This attitude of mind, proves that knowledge has advanced, but the church is content with medieval traditionalism.

"To say that 'Christ died for the ungodly' is good theology, but poor philosophy. The cross is not the true center of Christian truth. The crucifixion of the Christ was the unpardonable sin. It was the inexcusable mistake of Judaism. It was the abomination which brought desolation to the Jewish nation. The shed blood of a human sacrifice is pure paganism.

"Jesus taught that man must first be reconciled to his brother, before he can contact the Infinite. Man is forgiven on the condition that he forgives his brother. It is the law of compensation in ethics.

"The world is not hopelessly lost. All we need to complete recovery is a new idea. The world could be regenerated socially and morally, in our generation, if we would discard all traditionalism, and begin to practice the Sermon on the Mount. The center of true Christianity is the teachings of the Christ—not incidents in His human experiences. Jesus was a philosopher, not a religionist."

Engagement News Told In Accordance With Sorority Rules

True to that sorority tradition that requires that each June graduate shall reveal romance that has entered her life, Miss Katherine ("Kay") Ambrose of Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon revealed to her sorority sisters at U. C. L. A. the news of her betrothal to Marion Nau, son of Mrs. Fannie Nau, 208 South Birch street, Santa Ana, and the late Samuel Nau.

The occasion was a tea in the chapter house on the campus, and Miss Ambrose informed her guests of tentative plans for an October wedding. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ambrose, 102 Wilton street, Los Angeles, and her father is a high executive with the Federal Reserve.

Mr. Nau is a native born Santa Ana, and was prominent in High school and Junior college activities here before entering U. C. L. A. where he received his diploma in June, 1935. Members Of Wedding Party Reminisce Of Past Decade

That sixteenth day of May, 1925, when Miss Holly Lash became the bride of Nelson Visel at one of the most important weddings of that year, had cause to be remembered in detail yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. Visel staged an anniversary reunion of those who had prominence in the formal rites in First M. E. church.

It seemed remarkable that these hosts could bring together so many of the group after the lapse of more than a decade, but they were successful in assembling a majority of those who formed their bridal party and provided the elaborate musical program. Reminiscences were quite the order of the day in their home at 326 Cypress street, where brilliant flowers gave much the same bridal effect that prevailed in the church and in that same home, eleven years ago.

Buffet Supper

There was a merry interval of picture taking in the late afternoon sunlight before guests gathered in the home for a buffet supper, served from a lace-spread table, a great basket of snapdragons and pink glads was placed flat against the wall and a silver dream-ship floated on a mirror sea in which were reflected the white tapers in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Edward Power (Ruth Visel) served the main course with Mrs. Clyde Whitney (Gertrude Fowler) serving the salad. Mrs. Thomas H. Willis (Cecile Fross Willis) was at the nearby coffee table which had the same flower and candle arrangement with a lace cloth, as had the buffet table.

Impromptu Rites

Mrs. Willis and Miss Ruth Armstrong had their own ideas as to an after-supper entertainment program, and proceeded to put these into effect by appearing in costumes of the wedding era, very elaborate as to bearing and embroidery, and very brief as to skirt. Parts were assigned for an impromptu wedding, with the stellar roles of bride and groom reserved for the hosts.

Merriment was uproarious as the bridal procession formed with Miss Armstrong at the piano, and "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. Raymond Mayer, (LaRue Fippe Mayer), Mrs. Willis, Maurice Phillips and Earl Fraser.

Mrs. Whitney, in abbreviated skirts, as ring bearer, and Orlyn Robertson with his original ideas as to what a flower girl should wear, led the procession, with Mrs. Power and Clyde Whitney in their original roles of matron of honor and best man. Mrs. Visel's concession to the bride role was the delicate pink tulle wedding veil which she wore eleven years ago, and which trailed its filmy folds over her hostess gown of violet chiffon. W. E. Snow "read" the hilarious "marriage service."

Program Numbers

In more serious vein were other impromptu program features, for Maurice Phillips sang with arresting beauty, "Because" (D'Hardelot) and Mrs. Visel added two charming numbers, "Song of the Soul" and "Fog." Miss Armstrong was at the piano for both soloists. Daphne Goss Hellerman added two delightful readings, "Jealousy" by A. P. Herbert and a monologue, "The Afternoon Tea."

Perhaps the outstanding bit however, was the very brief little talk by A. J. Visel, father of the host, and for long years mayor of Santa Ana and one of its most prominent citizens. For on his departure, he not only voiced the sentiments of the guest group in his good wishes for his son and daughter-in-law, but spoke of the pleasure of meeting old friends on such a happy occasion.

The small son of the home, Master Nelson Visel Jr., made his appearance for a few minutes before departure of the guests, who included with A. J. Visel, father of the host, and Morris Christy, a cousin who arrived recently from the east, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Power, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whitney, San Bernardino; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mayer, Redondo Beach; Mrs. Harry Matthews (Olline Kellow Matthews), Daphne Goss Hellerman, Miss Ruth Easton, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Orlyn Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow, Earl Fraser, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Mrs. Thomas H. Willis and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Lowell Board

Meeting Wednesday evening in the home of Miss Mildred Mead, 601 South Ross street, members of Lowell P.-T. A. executive board made plans for an annual picnic to be held June 3 at 5:30 p. m. in Irvine park. Board members and teachers will join in the affair.

Mrs. Richard Luers, president, conducted business matters, at the close of which Miss Mead and Mrs. Ralph Mead served refreshments.

Guests were Mesdames William E. Eckles, Richard Luers, R. A.

Bridge Party Planned As Happy Reunion Of Friends

An enjoyable reunion of girlhood friends was that shared Saturday by a little group of Santa Anans who were guests at a desert bridge at which Mrs. Manley Natland (Dorothy Diehl) entertained in her Long Beach home as a compliment to Mrs. Ponrose Hazlett (Marcia Keeler) of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Hazlett has been making a short visit in the Southland with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Keeler of Long Beach, formerly of this city. Mrs. Natland's party gave opportunity for friends to get together with her before her visit comes to a conclusion.

The hostess had arranged her home with especially attractive flower decorations, grouping stocks in mingled colors for the table where her guests were seated for the dessert course preceding the afternoon's bridge play. Mrs. Hazlett, quite appropriately, held high score in the succeeding games, and received first prize with second prize falling to the lot of Miss Ruth Owens.

Motoring over from this city for the hospitality were Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mrs. Calvin C. Flint, the Misses Ruth Owens, Loretta Spangler, Helen Spangler, Eleanor Ralston and Marcia Huber.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK, May 18.—(UP)—Wall Street's first interpretation of the Guiteau decision as highly bullish brought an active start, followed by a decline that left the stock list irregular on the day.

Hasty reading of the opinion left traders in a state of confusion, but it was a sweeping defeat for the New Deal. As it was seen to lead to future legislation Federal regulation of business through imposition of penalties, it was considered highly favorable to business and to markets.

Floor traders "jumped the gun" on the first report of the decision and bought the leaders in profusion. Long stocks began appearing on the floor four minutes later within a few minutes.

Prices rose 1 to more than 2 points. But then following the floor traders had hoped to obtain failed to develop as they switched positions and sold stocks. Longs who recently acquired stocks at low prices took the opportunity of the strong market to take profits. Selling covered positions was also heavy and the list drifted into its former lethargy before the finish.

The adverse side of the market was not so much the result of the Guiteau decision as it was the result of a stiff tax bill and renewed weakness of the French franc. Despite assurances from French politicians that the franc will be stabilized and that that might upset equilibrium of world currencies.

Today's Guest Editorial

By
Dr. Margaret D. Baker, Member Santa Ana School Board

The "Guest Editor" selects his own subject matter and it may or may not agree with the opinions of the publisher. The Register will invite and publish daily a "guest editorial" by some prominent, practical Orange county citizen.

LONG LIVE DEMOCRACY

We have heard much about freedom in the last few years and will hear more in the near future as the platforms of our major political parties become more crystallized. Different people have different conceptions and interpretations of the above, but most of us are agreed that a free people can remain free only when they understand and cherish those great principles for which our fore-fathers fought and died.

The questions which leaders in our schools and our community have the right to ask are as follows:

Is the educational system building citizens for democracy?

Does it develop the ability of the learner to cope with real issues concerning the existing social situation?

It is right and proper for us to feel that if the schools are to serve society which supports them, they must prepare their students, young and old, through training and information to contribute their share to the efficient functioning of government.

The schools must perform a task which transcends special and private interests.

More and more emphasis is being placed on character education, citizenship, honesty and fair play in our school curriculum. The depression during the last few years has demonstrated very clearly that adults too must be given the opportunity to keep well informed with regard to our social, political and economic developments. With that in view the educative process is being organized for communities as a whole involving civic education for the vast majority of adults. It is felt that one of the best means to accomplish this is through open forums. Orange county is very fortunate in having been chosen one of ten communities in the United States for such an experiment. While funds are being donated by the federal government, the program and selection of leaders is entirely in the hands of a local committee. Their unanimous choice of Director is Homer C. Chaney, a prominent local citizen, who combines practical with teaching experience. His selection augurs well for this undertaking. It has been rightly said that the destiny of our country lies in the hands of teachers to a far greater degree than any other group.

Long live democracy.

SCHOOL TEACHERS' SALARIES AND WAGES

The local Board of Education has under consideration the raising of school teachers' salaries.

There seems to be, in the final analysis, only one reason for raising wages and salaries; that is, to get somebody to do a thing you want done. The party paying the wage, therefore, is benefited and the worker is also benefited because he will not work unless he is compensated more than he can secure any other way. It must be noted that compensation includes more than money wages.

Of course, the higher the wages of teachers, the more applicants there will be and the greater the selection. The money wages are never high enough in public schools to attract and long hold men and women of exceptional originality; men and women who understand cause and effect; men and women who can see what is happening before it does happen. If Society could only pay enough to get men of this type in schools and keep them there permanently, it would be a good investment.

But, under the school teaching system, especially with the Tenure School Law, high wages do not necessarily mean better teachers. If a superintendent makes a mistake in selecting a teacher under the Tenure Law, if the wages are high, it is practically impossible to get the teacher off the pay-roll. If the wages are so low that the teacher can make more at some other occupation, the poor teacher can be eliminated by reducing his wages. True, high wages might increase the number to select from at the beginning but there is no executive living who does not make many mistakes in selecting his assistants.

These arbitrary laws as to wages and dismissal which take away from the superintendent the right to increase and decrease wages in proportion as the teacher serves humanity makes, it very difficult for the superintendent to retain the class of teachers that would be the greatest benefit to the pupils. Seldom is there a superintendent who will even use his full authority in rewarding exceptional merit. The superintendents are inclined to use the uniform rule to avoid friction. In Santa Ana, for instance, the superintendent has requested the uniform rule of retiring all school teachers, under the tenure law, after 1937, at the age of 65 years. At this age, some teachers are absolutely in their prime. We sometimes elect Presidents and Supreme Court Judges who are older than this age, yet we automatically dismiss these teachers from serving humanity because those in authority refuse to use their best judgment for fear it will cause them to lose their popularity and their jobs.

It would seem, therefore, that when we have the Tenure School Law there is no particular advantage in raising salaries of teachers above a point where there is a reasonable supply. The more artificial the salary, compared with other work of like talent, the greater the scramble will be to get and hold the jobs. It is doubtful whether it will improve in any way the efficiency of the school system.

LET NOT JEFFERSONIAN CRIES DECEIVE YOU

The name and the spirit of Thomas Jefferson have been invoked often enough, as this presidential campaign gets under way, to lead an innocent bystander to suppose that Jeffersonian democracy would be the issue of the year.

The administration has been denounced for leading us away from Jefferson's ideal; it has been praised for leading us toward it. And the best thing the ordinary voter can do is to make up his mind right now that all this is one of the grandest sham battles that ever began a political campaign.

There is not the slightest chance that the present administration will Jeffersonize the country; there is not the slightest chance that its opponents will do so. Neither side has either the power or the wish to make Jefferson's great dream come true.

For Jefferson dreamed of an America which, in almost every essential, was the exact opposite of the America we have today.

His America would have been predominantly agricultural; ours is predominantly industrial; His would have had few cities and small ones; ours has many cities and large ones.

He felt that democracy would flourish only as long as the overwhelming majority of Americans lived on small farms, which they owned outright and on which they raised and fabricated nearly all the food and clothing they needed; and America has not remotely resembled that concept since the pre-Civil era.

We have, instead, an enormous working class population and an incalculably immense net work of finance and industry—the two things which Jefferson would have none of at any price. Most of our farmers either are in debt to the bankers or hold their farms as tenants—two more things which Jefferson held fatal to his vision of democracy.

But the important point is not so much the fact that we are in almost every respect the direct opposite of Jefferson's dream, as the fact that it would be almost impossible for us to get back to that dream.

To do so we would have to remake our agriculture, to begin with, from the group up; abolish debt, abolish tenancy, abolish the great one-crop farms of the corn and wheat and cotton belts, and restore antique handicrafts, such as weaving, wood-working, dyeing, and so on, to each farmhouse.

We would have to abolish our great corporations, give up our mass-production industries, reduce our great cities to a fraction of their size, abolish our tariffs, and whittle our banks and exchanges down to pocket size.

And if, at this point, you begin to wonder just how we can ever put through any such program, the answer is, bluntly: we can't.

We can't do it, and it is safe to say that no responsible party leader in or out of Washington thinks that we can. The fight over Jefferson's democracy is, in other words, a great sham battle. We might as well forget about it and devote ourselves to the real issues of the campaign.

WAS IT INFLATION?

After the Frazier-Lemke Bill was killed, by the House, the Stock Market advanced better than $3.00. At first thought, one might think that it advanced because the Frazier-Lemke Bill, that would have resulted in $3,000,000,000 of currency being printed, was killed by the House, indicating that we were not on the road to inflation.

Some people, however, contend that it would have been much better to have the Frazier-Lemke Bill passed, which would be an open and visible means of inflation and raising prices and, thus, give the public warning as to what was happening, than it is to have inflation by the route of the government borrowing and creating more and more "bank deposit money." They contend that the Stock Market went up because the bank deposit method of inflation is the most sinister and much more dangerous; that people are trying to get their wealth into equities instead of retaining it in credits which are, in reality, due bills for merchandise.

However, it is difficult to determine why the Stock Market goes up and down because you are, in the final analysis, analyzing why people do things. This is the most difficult thing in all the world to do.

WHERE DO THEY BUY?

According to the report of the amount of money Orange County receives from the State, as its share of the sales tax, it must be that a very large amount of purchases are made outside of Orange county. The report, if our memory serves us right, shows that Orange County receives nearly twice as much as it contributes to the State. With Orange County one of the richest counties per capita in the State, it certainly is reasonable to believe that Orange County citizens spend at least as much per capita as other parts of the State. If they do and spend it in Orange County, Orange County merchants would be obliged to contribute practically as much on their sales tax receipts as the County receives back from the State.

The more purchases that are made in Orange County, the better stores and better service the merchants can give. Everything else being equal, it is to our own interest to buy in our own County. The more we do this, the more our merchants can give us variety and better values.

Be sure to look at what the merchants have to offer, or the services they can render, before you leave the County to buy.

Tackling The Masked Marvel

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Politics in relief has become such a commonplace charge hereabouts that Republicans assert it repeatedly, but Democrats scoff at it. Generalities have made little impression thus far. So it is interesting to note the widespread interest in congress which has been caused by the publication of a series of three articles by Mrs. Eugene Meyer, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, who for 13 years has been chairman of the Westchester county recreation commission.

Mrs. Meyer made a personal investigation of the relationship of politics and relief in Westchester county, which, for the benefit of those who do not live in the vicinity of New York, it should be remarked, is the county where New York city ends on the north and continues northward and westward and embraces a large population, including many who commute to New York daily.

Members of congress have been confronted with such statements as these in Mrs. Meyer's articles: "It is alarming to see congress supinely voting the president another billion and half for the continuance of the most ruthless political machine that has ever existed in our country."

"We have witnessed extreme political corruption before, but it was confined to a municipality, a government department, or even a state. Never before have we had a national organization reaching out into the highways and byways and debauching the people as a whole. I shall endeavor to prove in these articles that the prime object of some of the WPA officials in Westchester county, New York, if not in other communities, is to buy allegiance to the national administration, to intimidate as far as possible those whose vote cannot be bought, and, only lastly, to spend on relief cases such sums as are left when the previous objectives have been obtained."

Mrs. Meyer then proceeds to give details, incidents and facts concerning the handling of WPA in Westchester county and charges that John Buckley Bryan, regional director of WPA for the county, has made the following statement to one of her friends on three separate occasions:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt is the man who gave us this money and I would be the dirtiest kind of a dog-traitor if I didn't see to it that people who are 100 per cent for him receive first consideration."

Now the usual course when charges of this kind are made is for an official inquiry to be instituted. Data are sought as a rule by congressional committees by inviting witnesses to appear and tell their story. All efforts to have the WPA investigated have been squelched by the Democrats in congress at the behest of the administration. Just why the WPA should fight against an investigation of a matter as important as the disbursement of public funds is difficult to understand except that the presence of a big Democratic majority just makes it easy to ignore attacks because the votes to defeat resolutions of inquiry are available.

So instead of a congressional inquiry, the public will have to get its facts and revelations in another way. That's why Mrs. Meyer's articles are an important contribution to the cause of better publicity of what's going on in the use of public funds this campaign year. Doubtless her example will be followed by public-spirited citizens in the other counties of the United States where political corruption prevails so that the citizens may get at the truth.

The point of view of the new deal is not very much different from that which is reported to have been expressed by the WPA director in Westchester county.

The theory is that it is Mr. Roosevelt's own fund that is being disbursed and that acknowledgements of a political character are due him. Thus Postmaster General Farley, who is chairman of the Democratic national committee, and also chairman of the Democratic state committee of New York state, and who is touring the country in the interest of the political fortunes of the Democratic party, said in an address delivered in the last 48 hours to the Democratic state convention of Vermont:

"The people of Vermont can think for themselves and they know that the funds sent here by the federal government during the depression turned the economic tide. It has been conservatively estimated that more than $62,000,000 has been allotted, loaned, expended or disbursed in the Green Mountain section since March, 1933."

When a member of the president's cabinet and the chief of the Democratic national organization uses language as plain as that to a Democratic state convention it is not surprising that federal employees will accept it as the gospel of the new deal. Time was when the Republicans used to boast of what they did in the way of special favors for the people. But that was the old deal and somehow many people have been persuaded to believe that what the Republicans did by way of political sin would never be repeated or imitated by the virtuous exponents of the new idealism. But whether such an assumption is right or wrong, the congress isn't ready to allow the white light of investigating committees to direct public attention to the facts. Hence the alternative is to recede the charges and let the people judge by their own observations whether the $4,000,000,000 fund is being properly or improperly disbursed.

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Ma was up in her room getting ready to go out and the door-bell rang and I answered it and it was Mrs. Yardie, and I went up and told Ma and Ma said, O dear.

She said she was only going to stay a few minutes, Ma, I said, and Ma said, I know her few minutes, they're as endless as the sands of time.

Well why don't you give her a little hint by putting your hat on and wawking in the front room looking at your wrist watch? I said, and Ma said, It would be a hint, to say the least, but it would hardly be polite.

And she went down the way she was and acted glad, and I went back in the dining room and watched the clock for 15 minutes, thinking, Hay, that's a lot more than a few.

And I stuck my head in the front room, saying, Hay Ma, what time is it please?

It's 20 minutes to 3, don't interrupt, can't you see Mrs. Yardie and Ma are talking? Ma said.

Which they kept on doing, and after a while I stuck my head back again, saying, G. Ma, it's exactly 3 o'clock, wasn't that quick for 20 minutes?

Mersey, I never saw a child so concerned about the time, Mrs. Yardie said, and Ma said, Don't mind him, he has a new watch and he keeps practicing on it. But imagine, 3 o'clock, it is remarkable how time flies, isn't it, I mean in pleasant company, naturally, hee hee.

Perhaps you have an engagement, Mrs. Yardie said, and Ma said, O no, that is to say nothing that means life or death, please don't go.

Well perhaps I better, Mrs. Yardie said.

Which she did, Ma saying, Now Benny, that was a very rude thing to do.

What was I said, and Ma said, I'll explain later, I'm late as it is.

And she gave me 5 cents for a ice cream cone the first time I asked her, proving she wasn't mad.

Mayor L. L. Vestal of Santa Ana has received a telegram from Adjutant General Forbes at Sacramento, instructing him to report on May 27 for two weeks' attendance at government maneuvers at San Diego.

Yesterday was a gala occasion for Orange County Hoosiers who held their annual Indiana society picnic reunion in Birch park; Dr. William Freeman is president of the county society and G. J. Mosbaugh is secretary.

Santa Ana Church federation will present to the city trustees at their next meeting, a resolution asking the trustees to pass an ordinance prohibiting the opening on Sunday of motion picture houses, the Grand Opera house, pool rooms and similar places of amusement, and asking also that such Sunday sports as motorcycle races, baseball, etc., be prohibited.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE POLITICS OF EMOTION

It is, I am sure, the unvoiced prayer of millions of Americans that the politics of emotion may not dominate the 1936 campaign.

There are, I am afraid, too many at the centers of power in all political groups who think that the royal recipe for political success is rabble-rousing.

Millions of Americans have been hard hit by these years of economic arrest. Homes have been lost. Farms have been pounded out of the hands of the erstwhile owners by the auctioneer's hammer. Jobs have vanished. A dull black has obscured the future of many honest citizens. Painfully built up security for old age has, for many, given way to utter insecurity. The long line of the unemployed stays stubbornly long. Youth comes out of our colleges into a world of closed doors. This is a situation highly packed with social dynamite.

There are two types of leadership that can touch this social dynamite to social explosion, viz:

1.—The stupid standpatter.

2.—The conscienceless radical.

We cannot afford to entrust the national destiny to either type of leadership.

A man might, in such a situation, easily gain leadership by playing upon the frayed feelings of all these I have mentioned. It needs to be said, however, alike to Mr. Roosevelt and to whatever man emerges as the leader of the opposition that in unloosing popular emotion a leader assumes grave responsibility. I am sure the majority of us hope that Mr. Roosevelt and the man chosen to enter the lists against him will both decline to stir mob passions by making promises that cannot be fulfilled. We need concert not conflict of classes.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PERSONAL PRIVACY

There is a letter that comes to me again and again, from many different kinds of people. It tells me of the troubles that rise out of teaching, or neglecting to teach, sex facts to children. One difficulty appears to be in teaching little children sex facts too early and too completely.

"I was never taught, so I made up my mind that my children should not have the same unhappy experiences I had. From the beginning I told them everything there was to tell. We made no attempt to maintain personal privacy, but let the children come and go as they pleased while we were bathing or dressing. As soon as they could understand I told them where they came from and all about it. I believe and still believe that this is the only intelligent thing to do.

"My neighbor does not agree with me. She was terribly shocked because my child talked freely about matters her children knew nothing about, and forbade her children to have anything to do with mine. Now the story is going about the neighborhood that my children are not fit associates for the others. It has made life here very unpleasant."

It would, in the first place, no two children need sex knowledge at the same time, nor in the same way. No two parents agree upon the when and the how of teaching these facts. Everybody agrees that some instruction is necessary, but after that there is no agreement. Every parent has to make his own decisions and do his best for each child in the family.

Little children not yet in kindergarten may ask questions about their origin. Answer them briefly and truthfully in a few words, and don't attempt any sort of explanation. They ask that question with the same impersonal curiosity as they ask, "Why does it rain?" Answer them in the same way.

As to personal privacy I believe it should be preserved, not with alarmed anxiety, but with the casual acceptance that would be shown any other fact of life. The overdone teaching, such as removal of all privacy from the father's and mother's person is not an indication of matter-of-fact.

acceptance, but the contrary. It is an exaggeration, and in consequence must be so judged.

Take the matter as it comes. Don't go to meet it. Answer the child's questions briefly and truthfully and in a matter-of-fact fashion. He will take that and go his way. He will come back and ask another question and keep on coming until he gets all the instruction he needs for the protection of body and the satisfaction of mind.

One's neighbors' attitudes ought to be considered, and in defense of one's own children, instruction suited to the needs, no more. There is always some sex curiosity among children. There is no occasion for alarm when it shows itself. It is an opportunity for instruction. Sex is not a new idea. We have had it since the Garden of Eden was created. We ought by now to be able to teach our children something about it without doing too much or too little.
